GREAT DISTRESS IN OTHER TOWNS

Fears Expressed That Many People Will Starve to Death—Relief Trains Now Arriving at Johnstown—Scenes and Incidents

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—The water receded in the night almost as rapidly as it came, and behind it remains a sight scarcely imaginable. The dove that comes has not the green leaf of promise, for its wings are draped with a hue of mourning and desolation.

Before the windows of the Associated Press headquarters lies the great skeleton of dead Johnstown. Great ribs of rocky sand stretch across the chest, scarred and covered with abrasions. Acres of mud, acres of wreckage, acres of unsteady, tottering buildings, acres of unknown dead, acres of ghastly objects which have been eagerly sought for since Friday, acres of smoking, steaming ruins lie out here in the sunshine. It is awful to think of the hundreds of bodies lying along the river banks and under the piles of big timbers, and trouble will come from them, because they are hard to find and harder to dig out.

Out in the center of the river on the extreme edge of the mass which rests against the bridge the Pittsburg fire men have a steam playing on the wreck. They are literally in the middle of a river, putting out a fire Fire is burning every where. Fire is the agent employed to help the committees get rid of the refuse and broken wood. By means of fire the Cambria Iron Company has cleared away most of the lighter lumber and will soon be able to work on the heavier piles

The completion of the temporary track and bridge which permits the passage of trains over the river, has been a blessing, for it allows the men to work much faster than before.

This was the day set apart by the citizens' committee for burying the unidentified dead that have been lying in the morgue since Sunday

The men in charge of the burials have been busy all day There are no pathetic scenes at these burials. The men hired to do the work seem to do it just as a matter of business. The bodies are being interred in the cemetery nearest the places where they were found.

About noon a procession of fifty coffined bodies was seen going up the hill above the railroad, not a mourner being present, and the sight was a ghastly one to behold It will take several days to bury the bodies in the different graveyards, as there were but few graves dug until this morning and no implements to dig them with. A large number of men who arrived from Pittsburg this morning were put to work digging graves

Altogether, 530 bodies have been taken to the different cemeteries this morning

The wreckage against the bridge is being dynamited to allow the water to pass into the main channel

SCENES AND INCIDENTS

A Body Found in a Coffin—A Man Who Saved Many Lives

The flood and fire claimed among its victims, not only the living but the dead. To-day a hand some coffin was found half burned in some charred wreckage down near the Point. Inside was found the body of a man shrouded for burial, but so scorched about the head and face as to be unrecognizable. The supposition is that the house in which the dead man had lain had been crushed and the debris partially consumed by fire. H Klein claims the distinction of being the only New Yorker in Johnstown. He escaped the flood and has the honor of having rescued, or assisted to rescue, sixty people His base of operations was the Merchants' hotel, and his plan was to lift persons from the windows of the houses floating by

Among those that he saved were Rev Phillip who as he glided by was trying to hold his wife and two children above the water by means of a table on which he placed them and raised the load to his head. The house swung against the hotel and stayed just long enough for the rescue to be accomplished.

Klein has been working hard to alleviate the sufferings of the victims.

On the backward trip to Sang Hollow the reportative eye of the amateur photographer's camera is seen gazing from every hill. There are no commonplace scenes about Johnstown. The little camera appreciates that fact The artists and their paraphernalia may be seen tumbling about together absorbing all the sunlight and all the scenes. There will be no lack of pictures of the Johnstown flood horror

At a meeting of the Johnstown commandery K of P, held here this afternoon E G Crouse the secretary was appointed to receive financial aid All Knights of Pythias funds should therefore be sent to Crouse, at Johnstown

Four long trenches, 100 feet long seven feet wide and three feet deep form the last resting places for the 240 victims of the flood whose bodies were recovered at Nineveh ten miles below Johnstown to-day

From the fields of mud to-day many bodies have been taken The searchers find many of the bodies by means of a hand or a piece of clothing sticking through the mud. They carry long sticks, with which they prod the soil.

The Westmoreland county commissioners yesterday purchased an acre of ground on the side of the mountain and converted it into a cemetery A gang of laborers were at work all day digging trenches.

The scenes at the cemetery were depressing and pathetic The torches of the laborers looked from across the fields like so many jack o lanterns luring their victims on to destruction.

AT THE MORGUES.

How the Bodies Are Prepared for Identification and Burial

There are six improvised morgues now in Johnstown, and in these the bodies are held until decomposition renders it unsafe to keep them longer These temporary places for the dead are in churches and school houses, the largest one being in the Fourth ward school house where planks have been laid over the tops of desks and on them the remains have been placed.

When a corpse is dug from the bank it is covered with mud. It is taken to the ante room of the school house where it is placed under a hydrant and the mud and slime washed off With a knife the clothes are ripped open and an attendant searches for valuables or papers that would lead to identification Four men lift the corpse on to a rude table and there it is thoroughly washed and embalming fluid injected into the arm. Then with other grim bodies, the corpse lies in a large room until it is identified or becomes offensive. In the latter case it is hurried to a large grave that will hereafter have a monument over it bearing the words, "Unknown Dead." The number of the latter is growing hourly, because pestilence stalks in Johnstown and the blasted and disfigured masses of flesh cannot be held much longer

The bodies of stalwart workmen lie beside the remains of dainty ladies, many of whom are still decked with costly earrings and jewels.

The rich and the poor throng these quarters and gaze with awe-struck fease at the maches of the dead in the hope of recognizing missing ones, so as to accord the bodies decent burial.

PATHETIC INCIDENTS

A Young Man's Sorrow—A Dead Mother Recognized by Her Child

A wealthy young Philadelphian named Ogle recently became engaged to a Johnstown lady, Miss Carrie Dicht. They were to have been wedded in the middle of June, and both parties were preparing for the ceremony The lover heard of the terrible flood but, knowing that the residence of his dear one was up on the hills felt little fear for her safety To make sure however he started for Johnstown, arriving to-day Near the Fourth street morgue he met Mr Dicht. "Thank God, you are safe," he exclaimed, and then added, "Is Carrie well?" "She was visiting in the valley when the flood came," was the mournful reply. Then he beckoned the young man to enter the chamber of death.

A moment later Ogle was kneeling beside the rough bier and was kissing the cold, white face, From the lifeless finger he slipped a thin gold ring, and in its place put on his own. Then he stole quietly out, one of the thousands made to mourn by the bursting of the South Fork dam.

'Mamma, mamma, cried a child. She had recognized the body that no one else could. In a moment the corpse was ticketed, boxed and delivered to the laborers, who bore it away to join the long funeral procession.

A mother recognized her baby boy "Keep it a few minutes, she said to the undertaker in charge. In a few moments she returned, carrying in her arms the little white casket. Then she hired two men to bear it to the cemetery

No hearses are seen in Johnstown. The relatives recognize their dead secure coffins and put them carried the best way they can to the morgues and then to the graveyards.

A frequent visitor at the horrible places is David John Lewis All over Johnstown he rides a powerful grey horse, and to each one he meets whom he knows, he exclaims, "Have you seen my sisters?" Hardly waiting for a reply he gallops away either to seek ingress to the morgue or to ride along the river bank. One week ago Lewis was worth $60,000, his property being invested in a large commission business. To-day he owns the horse he rides and the clothes on his back, and that is all In the fierce waves were buried five of his near relatives, and his sisters Anna and Lizzie and Maggie The latter was married, and her little boy and babe were also drowned.

INSANE FROM GRIEF.

The Lamentable Condition of a Deputy Marshal Who Lost All His Dear Ones.

JOHNSTOWN, June 3.—Deputy Marshal Dick is the man whose condition excites general pity. His total bereavement of wife and family and relatives has affected his brain, it is thought, and he goes riding about the country giving all the assistance in his power, and keeping an especial lookout for law breakers and vandals.

He distinguished himself on several occasions, it is reported, by shooting the Hungarians whom he detected pillaging the dead, but his last action is particularly noteworthy A detective and two officers had arrested two notorious crooks that reached town on Monday evening. They were from Kansas City, and were probably travelling for Johnstown for nefarious purposes. The detective knew them and promptly arrested them as soon as they stepped off the train They resisted furiously, but with some difficulty they were overcome and led to the Cambria City lockup. This place was full of mud knee deep and it was impossible to look them in there A box car was then visited, and while the officers were wrangling with the railroaders as to the advisability of placing the crooks inside, Dick rode up and imperiously demanded to know the cause of the trouble. It was explained to him.

'Stand the fellows there,' shouted Dick, reining up his horse, his features stiffened into an expression of determination and rage, and he whipped out a revolver and brandished it at the quaking wretches, and muttered, "I'll stop their thieving."

"For God's sake don't," cried the detective, "don't do that, remember we are officers of the law."

After some 'minutes' parley, Dick was called off and better council prevailed.

As no accommodations could be found for the thieves, they were given five minutes to leave town.

ON PROSPECT HILL.

A Number of the Survivors Suffering From Pneumonia.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Up the ragged sides of Prospect hill, the same to which several hundred terror stricken people fled to escape the flood, an Associated Press correspondent scrambled this afternoon.

He came upon a pneumonia scourge which bids fair to do for a number of the escaped victims what the flood could not do. Death has pursued them to the highest places. Every little house on the hill and there are a hundred or two of them, threw its doors open to receive the bruised and half-clad fugitives on the dark day of the deluge, and every one is now a crude hospital.

Half of the women who scaled the hight were so overcome with fright that they have been bedridden ever since.

There has been pneumonia on the hill, but only a few isolated cases To-day however, several fresh cases developed among the flood fugitives, and a local physician said that the prospects for a scourge were all too promising.

The pe feebled condition of the patients, the unhealthy atmosphere pervading the valley and the necessarily close quarters in which the people are crowded render the spread of disease almost certain.

To-day a ray of light came in the nature of a carload of provisions, and another from Columbus, O, containing clean mattresses and bedding, all specified for the Prospect hill sufferers.

On this eminence stands the Cambria City hospital Here, in a rambling cottage, a great work is being done through the combined agencies of medical science and brotherly love. The wards are full of bruised and suffering ones, who were dragged from the teeth of the flood. This evening the charred body of a young woman was uncovered a short distance above the stone bridge. On her finger was found a slender gold ring, on the plate of which was engraved the initials "M. E. B" She wore a striped woolen dress and a black underskirt. The body was taken to the Fourth ward school house.

Several yellow flags were noticed sticking up from the black wreckage above the stone bridge to-day This was the new plan adopted by the sanitary corps to indicate at what point bodies had been located. As it grows dark the flags are still up and another day will down upon the imprisoned remains. People who had lost friends and had supposed that they had drifted into this fatal place, peered down into the charred mass in the vain endeavor to recognize the beloved features.

THE BROKEN DAM.

Interesting Facts Gathered by General Manager Smith, of the A. P.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—The secretary of the South Fork Fishing Club said yesterday that the club had not filed an indemnity bond, as claimed by a citizen of Ebensburg, and that complaints had never been made about the safety of the dam by any of Johnstown's citizens.

He is undoubtedly correct as to the bond, but the second part of his statement is misleading. There is no shadow of doubt that the citizens of Cambria county frequently complained, and at the time the dam was constructed a very vigorous effort was made to put a stop to the work.

It is true that the leader in this movement was not a citizen of Johnstown but he was and is a large mine owner in Cambria county His mine adjoins the reservoir property

He related to me Saturday the story of his efforts to protect the lives and property of the people in that valley He was frequently on the spot, and his own engineer inspected the work. He says that the embankment was principally shale and clay, and that straw was used to stop the leaking of the water.

While the work was going on he called on the sheriff of Cambria county, and told him that it was his duty to apply to the court for an injunction. The sheriff promised to give the matter his attention, but instead of going before the court he went to the Cambria Iron Company for consultation. An engineer was sent up to make the inspection, and as his report was favorable to the reservoir work the sheriff went no further, but the gentleman referred to said that he had not failed to make public his protest at the time, and to renew it frequently

This recommendation for an injunction and protest were spoken of by the citizens of Altoona as a hackneyed subject. Confirmation was certainly had at South Fork Conemaugh, Millville and Johnstown on that fatal Friday A rumor that a break was expected was prevalent at these places early in the day, but the citizens remarked that the rumor was a familiar incident of the annual freshets It was the old story of "wolf, wolf"

They gave up the first floors to the water and retired up stairs to wait until the river should recede, as they had gone often before, scouting the oft told story of the breaking of the reservoir

The reader will note a remarkable conflict between that shale and clay story of the mine owner referred to above and the published statement of General Morehead, who had charge of the construction, that the masonry was of solid granite and limestone and was believed to be as enduring as the Pyramids of Egypt. The awful disaster would seem to confirm the allegations concerning the use of such poor material as shale and clay in the construction.

The number of passengers on the day express known to have been lost is six. Besides, there are two lad es missing and unaccounted for but who may yet be alive

A conductor who was at Conemaugh on the fateful day claims to have run through the cars and told the passengers to run to the mountains. The passengers who survived are anxious to make the acquaintance of that conductor They certainly neither saw him, nor heard him. His listeners may have been good but the good deed was omitted

When the passengers reached the mountain side they found their two conductors in beautiful white caps. Their manner was calm and their clothing unspotted. I asked one of them why he did not notify the passengers of the breaking of the dam He replied in some confusion that he had no time. His companion made a report to his superior, which report was carried over the mountain by one of the passengers that night, but there was nothing in it to indicate that any of the passengers were any of his concern He reported the loss of the two trains.

In striking contrast to the neglect of duty of these conductors, it is pleasant to note the manly conduct of others. The first, always the first, to be mentioned, should be the locomotive engineers and firemen whose bravery and devotion were so conspicuous. They never neglected to give such warnings as they could in the face of danger in some cases of certain death

A brakeman riding "dead head" whose name cannot be recalled, rendered splendid service in rescuing women and children at the risk of his own life

S Alser the Pullman conductor was efficient and cool headed.

H. E. Woodiff, cook of the car Aragon, and John H Waughle, porter of the parlor car and C H Lorin stood manfully by G F Griffiths of the Norwich line, in the rescue of passengers. It was Woodiffer who stood on top of the car Aragon with an ax in hand, ready to cut in the roof to prevent the smothering of those within

ROBBERY AND PILLAGE

Scenes Similar to Those Attending a Great Battle

Chairman Moxham of the citizens committee, tells of frightful desecration of the dead and looting of houses. On the afternoon of the disaster he was working among the victims on the hill sides above Johnstown when he noticed a colored man give a colored woman a gold watch and chain with the remark Hold my watch for me I am afraid I will lose it. The man was apparently working industriously upon the wreck and Moxham did not think anything of the circumstance until he saw the negro step up to the woman again hand her another watch and repeat his remark

Suspecting something wrong Moxham had the woman placed under arrest Her pockets were found to be filled with watches and jewelry There were several rings that were bloody, and fingers had been cut off the dead for the gold.

Later on Moxham discovered several carloads of shoes and clothing secreted back on one of the hills. One man had a clothes line strung full of clothing, evidently taken from flood victims, as they were wet and muddy When officers attempted to seize the goods the fellow opened fire upon them with a revolver They returned the salute and did not stop, after regaining the citizens, to see in the direct direction

As to the failure of the Johnstown council to afford police protection there are found many extenuating circumstances One fourth of the councilmen are dead Every one have lost their lives in the flood and there is no such a one of the living who has not met with some terrible loss

Five Italians were caught this afternoon while in the act of exhuming bodies at the cemetery Fortunately for them there were few people around or they would undoubtedly have been strung up. As it was they were taken in charge by a file of soldiers and locked in a box car

Petty thieving is constantly going on but by to-morrow thorough military patrol will prevent it in a great measure.

GENERAL HASTINGS'S REPORT

He Telegraphs Governor Beaver in an Encouraging Manner

Adjutant General Hastings at midnight wired Governor Beaver the report of the day It is a most encouraging one and shows that the terror stricken city is recovering from the blow struck her

The report is as follows Coroner Hammer of Allegheny City is at this point doing excellent work His jury was organized ba urday and they have heard plenty of testimony

Coroner Hammer will push on to South Fork as soon as the railroad is open and with the jury will make a formal examination of the lake, and will take testimony concerning the appearance of the flood to those who have escaped and a description of the lake

Pneumonia and diphtheria have broken out among the people who were rescued

Typhoid fever is feared

The Fourteenth regiment arrived here to-day 439 strong The burgess of Johnstown and the sheriff of Cambria county finally requested the troops this morning.

There has been no violence but several thieves have been arrested

About 1500 laborers are at work and squads are coming in from all sides The present force will probably be doubled to morrow There is plenty of food and clothing The survivors are regaining their health.

Chairman Moxham of the citizens committee was exhausted to day He was returned and James Scott of Pittsburg elected in his place The organization is now perfect It will take weeks to complete the work D H HASTINGS.

THE CONDITION OF WILLIAMSPORT.

Mayor Foreman Telegraphs Governor Beaver for Assistance

HARRISBURG June 4—Mayor Foresman of Williamsport telegraphed Governor Beaver today that the situation there was as follows "The freshet has cleared the logs from the principal yards along the river front, and the manufactured lumber has also been swept away The houses of the people nearest the river have been carried away with all they possessed Thousands of people are homeless, and without anything but the clothes upon their backs. Many people are in absolute want of the necessaries of life At a meeting of the business men called yesterday over $7000 were subscribed Dead animals and all kinds of filth are lodged upon the streets, and great fears of an epidemic are entertained It is impossible to estimate the losses and damages to different kinds of property Five million dollars is the lowest estimate of the loss on the lumber alone and the other losses are large.

The surrounding country suffers just as badly Booms, bridges and villages have been swept away The loss of life has been considerable The thousands of military tents will afford the greatest possible relief to our people, who are now without shelter

Governor Beaver replied to Mayor Foresman in substance as follows "Will reach you with help as soon as the Montgomery bridge can be crossed I am loading cars here with flour and groceries notwithstanding the pressure upon our own stricken people Put your unemployed men to work in removing the debris and clearing your city I will furnish the means for paying them reasonable wages The country is responding nobly to the cry of humanity and the address sent out last night will give a better idea of the situation, and I have no fear of any lack of means for supplying the needy.

THE ACCOUNT OF A CHICAGOAN

The Loss of Life Estimated by Him at Near 20 000

CHICAGO June 4—Frank B Felt and Sydney Mott both of this city were in Johnstown on the fatal Friday when it was buried beneath the waters of the deadly reservoir

They returned to this city this evening and Felt was seen to-night and modestly told of the heroic part which himself and friend took on that day

Mr Felt said that judging from the number of people whom he saw around Johnstown immediately before the flood he would not be at all surprised of the list of the drowned would, when completed number 20,000

In one house in Kernsville seven bodies of adults were discovered floating, about in the water In the same room was a cradle in which lay a baby alive

Then near the stone bridge, it seems was not the only one The Cox church and two other took fire and Felt decided that about 100 people lost their lives there

MEASURES OF RELIEF

Contributions Pouring In From All Parts of the Union

WASHINGTON June 4—In response to the call issued by the commissioners of the District of Columbia a public meeting to devise means for aiding the sufferers by the flood at Johnstown and vicinity was held here this afternoon President Harrison presided and urged immediate action

The meeting was called to order by Commissioner Douglass who introduced President Harrison the presiding officer of the meeting Upon taking the chair the president said

"Every one here is distressingly conscious of the circumstances which have convened this meeting. It would be impossible to state more impressively than the newspapers have already done the distressing incidents attending the calamity which has fallen upon the city of Johnstown and neighboring hamlets, and upon a large section of Pennsylvania situated upon the Susquehanna river The grim pencil of Dore would be inadequate to portray the horrors of this visitation In such a meeting as we have here in the national capitol, and other like gatherings that are taking place in all the cities of this land we have the only ray of hope and light that is general gloom When such calamitous visitation falls upon any section of country we can do no more than to put about the dark picture a golden border of love, and of active sympathy It is in such fires as these that the brotherhood of man is welded And where is sympathy and help more appropriate than here in the national capitol

I remember well to see that early this morning from a city not long ago visited by pestilence, not long ago itself appealing to the charitable people of the whole land for relief, the city of Jacksonville Fla there came the ebb of that tide of charity which flowed towards it in the time of its need in a telegram from the sanitary relief association authorizing me to draw on them for $5,000 for relief of the Pennsylvania sufferers. MONTANA'S SCHOOL LANDS.

More Particulars About Their Location as Mineral Claims

HELENA Mont, June 4—There are two sides to the land jumping business by prominent citizens of Great Falls and each faction tells a different story The first account stated that the scheme was a big steal, involving thousands of acres of school lands throughout the territory, under the guise of placer claims The second account, evidently sent by an interested party, asserted that the locations made are for stone quarries and were staked off in compliance with a letter from the commissioner of the general land office In one of the Great Falls papers an advertisement is being printed inviting adverse claimants to present their claims within sixty days after the first publication The time will expire the 29th of the present month The lands are located immediately across the Missouri river a short distance north of Great Falls and join the line of one of the townsite additions the value of the land being variously estimated at from $200 to $500 per acre. The soil is described as being anything but mineral in its character

The lands for which patents are applied are described as being in section 36. It is well known that sections 16 and 36 in every township in Montana have been set apart by the government as public school lands The land in question is described as placer ground situated in no organized mining district. It is understood that claims embracing thousands of acres have been staked off in other sections of school lands put on to be applied for in due course of time, and it is also asserted that preparations are being made to locate the university lands lying at the junction of the Sun and Missouri rivers A well known United States official says that the people should lose no time in having a full investigation, if they care to preserve the school lands

THE CRONIN CASE.

A New Story Told by Woodruff—Captain Schaack Suspended

CHICAGO June 4—The many contradictory confessions of the imprisoned horse thief, Woodruff alias Black, regarding the Cronin mystery were overshadowed this afternoon by a new narrative from him regarding the affair

During the inquest Police Captain Schaack who was on the witness stand, had testified as to the investigations which followed the arrest of Woodruff for horse stealing, and retold the whole of Woodruff's varied stories about the men whom he claimed were named King and Fairburn and the carrying off of the woman's body in the trunk

When the captain was asked if he had had any recent conversation with Woodruff, he said

"Yes, Coroner Hammer and I went to see Woodruff for the purpose of getting a statement from him regarding the affair

"Woodruff sent for me the day the grand jury was in session on this case, and we went together into a private room at the jail Woodruff went on to say that there were a good many things that he had not told about the case He continued by saying that he was in a saloon one afternoon with King and Fairburn when a stranger entered and took King aside Woodruff said that the man had a big roll of money and that he gave some of it to King and more to Fairburn They went out together, and the stranger man left them at the door After he had gone Woodruff said he asked King who it was King said 'That is the lawyer Alexander Sullivan'"

Captain Schaack added, in reply to a juror's question, that the next day after Woodruff had been indicted for horse-stealing, he sent word that he would not talk any more

The Daily News says this evening Woodruff this morning declared "I ain't going to get the worst of it although there are people trying to fix it to me I am an Irish Catholic and I suppose the Irish will try to give me the worst of it, but they had better look out If I find out that they are trying to do that I'll make some of them think hades is not more than five minutes distant.

CAPTAIN SCHAACK SUSPENDED

Captain Schaack was suspended from duty tonight by Chief Hubbard for alleged dereliction of duty in the Cronin case

The action was taken after Schaack's examination before the Cronin jury, and was announced to be based upon Schaack's neglect to summon persons other than Mrs. Conklin to identify the famous white horse and rig and for not inquiring into the whereabouts of detectives Coughlin and Whelan on the night of May 4.

Chief Hubbard to-night in an interview after the suspension charged that Schaack's course in the Cronin matter was due to the fact that efforts had been made by Schaack's enemies to oust him from office Schaack had found a powerful friend in Alexander Sullivan, and in one case at least Sullivan had saved Schaack his rank and star as captain

THE SIOUX COMMISSION

The Provisions of the Bill Explained to the Intercepted Indians.

ROSEBUD AGENCY Dak, June 4—The commissioners first council with the Sioux was held yesterday afternoon All the prominent Indians of this agency were present, as well as a delegation from all the other Sioux agencies Governor Foster chairman of the commission explained the length the provisions and scope of the bill, and said that the government did not propose to take their land except with their full consent, and would pay liberally for it The commission hoped to be able to convince them that it was for the interest of the Indians to sell At the request of the Indians, the whole act was then read." The council then adjourned to give the Indians an opportunity to discuss the provisions with each other

THE SECOND SESSION

ROSEBUD, Dak, June 4—The proceedings of the council held to-day were uneventful.

Major Warner, of the commission in compliance with the request of Swift Bear, went over the provisions of the act of congress, explaining the benefits which would result from the acceptance of its terms.

The Indians were evidently favorably impressed and asked time for consideration They said that the matter was of great importance to them, and they didn't want to be hurried.

The council adjourned until June 6, when it is expected that the Indians will be prepared to discuss the question and give their decision

HUNG TO A TELEGRAPH POLE

A Burglar Fatally Shoots a Merchant, and is Lynched.

TOPEKA June 4—Early this morning Hon A T Rogers, of the firm of Rogers & Stranahan merchant tailors was fatally shot by a burglar and Mrs Rogers was shot so that her recovery is doubtful. The burglar escaped badly wounded but later in the day he was captured.

When it became known that he was in custody the people surrounded the jail to guard against any attempt to remove him elsewhere During the evening the crowd increased, and at 7 P M the jail was stormed.

The officers made a desperate resistance, and it was 11 o'clock when the unfortunate wretch was dragged out and hung to the nearest telegraph pole.

A LITTLE LEAVEN LEAVENETH THE WHOLE LUMP.

A disease in one part of the body will eventually fill the whole body with disease. Every year or two some part of the system grows weak and begins to decay Such part should be removed at once and new matter be allowed to take its place. There's no need of cutting it out with the surgeon's scalpel. Purge away the old diseased and worn-out parts with Dr. Pierce's Pellets Then the new body will take care of itself.

A DISASTROUS BLAZE.

The Building of the Michigan Furniture Company, Near Oakland, Burned

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4—The Michigan Furniture Company's building at Emeryville, north of Oakland was burned this morning The building was filled with furniture. Engines were sent from Oakland, but it was impossible to save anything The loss is $90,000, insurance, $25 000.

The Judson Manufacturing Company's works narrowly escaped destruction also.

When a portion of the Oakland fire department arrived at the scene the immense buildings of the Michigan Furniture Company, including the store rooms and warehouses, all of which were built of wood, were in flames and beyond control

The department then went to work to save the adjoining property and succeeded in preventing the fire from extending to the buildings of the Judson Manufacturing Company and other buildings.

To the east from the flames was so intense that the railroad tracks in front of the building were twisted out of shape, rendering it impossible for the fire engines of the railroad company to do any service Luckily for the adjoining buildings there was no wind otherwise the entire suburb would in all probability have been wiped out As it was, the burning cinders were wafted half a mile away

The cause of the fire is not known but it is attributed to spontaneous combustion in the oil and varnish room of the factory

The buildings and their contents were owned by the furniture company.

A SCARCITY OF WHEAT VESSELS

More Ships Must Be Had to Carry Away the Surplus.

SAN FRANCISCO June 4—A local paper says San Francisco grain shippers are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing vessels for the transportation of grain to foreign ports The shortage in the foreign wheat crop and the great demands on California's large surplus of that product this year has caused wheat charters to advance. California's surplus for exportation is estimated at 1,000,000 tons. The number of vessels necessary to handle this amount in order to promptly meet demands is set at 480. At present there are but sixteen deep water vessels in port discharging. Shipping reports show that 200 vessels listed to arrive at this port during the next four months At present rates are reported at 32s 6d but lack of vessels will probably cause rates to jump to 45s British vessels carry a great portion of California's grain, but when not engaged to wheat they prefer to dock at Portland, Or or were they receive a small increase over the rate allowed at San Francisco. An immediate advance in rates seems to be the only solution of California wheat shippers. Australian steamers have all signed contracts to carry cargoes of wheat to the colonies for several months to come

A WOMAN'S WILD STORY.

She Helped Tascott to Escape, and He Is Now in China.

SAN FRANCISCO June 4—The Chronicle to-morrow will print a statement that William H Tascott the murderer of Anna J Smith, the Chicago broker, is now in Canton, China. The discovery of his present residence is said to have been secured from Mrs. Gantz, who arrived here from Chicago about a month ago, and who claims to be the deserted wife of Mayon Gantz, formerly connected with a Chicago paper She says she also lived with Tascott as a wife

A Chronicle reporter represented himself as an advance agent and made himself exceedingly agreeable to Mrs. Gantz who finally grew friendly enough to say it was she who aided Tascott to escape from Chicago She says Tascott was secreted in her house two days, and two weeks in a house of her selection She then assisted him to reach St. Paul, and about a month after the murder he went west by rail to Portland Oregon, at once to Seattle Columbia, and a few days later sailed on a Canadian Pacific steamer to China Mrs Gantz claims to have received a letter from him in China

SALEM IS GROWING

MORE RAPIDLY THAN ANY OTHER CITY OF ITS SIZE UPON THE PACIFIC COAST.

Three million brick will be used in building in Salem the present year.

Eighteen magnificent new brick store rooms, having a frontage of nearly four hundred feet, are now in process of construction. An extensive ice factory has already been constructed. An immense woolen mill will be completed before the end of the season. A forty thousand dollar box factory is to be built. From present appearances nearly two hundred dwelling houses will have been erected here during the year. Work will soon begin upon the State Reform School, and immense sums of money are to be spent upon the other State buildings. Nearly four miles of street railway has been built in Salem within the past six months. Various other extensive improvements, involving the expenditure of large sums of money, are contemplated. Salem has the finest mills upon the Coast. Salem has immense water power and expensive manufactories, employing large numbers of hands. Salem has electric lights, street cars, telephones, gas, extensive water works, and all modern conveniences. Salem has thirteen churches and the oldest and best institutions of learning upon the Pacific Coast. Salem is famed as a city of churches and schools.

Salem is on the line of the great Southern Pacific Railway, and will shortly be connected with another great transcontinental railway. Two or three local lines are also contemplated. Salem has a free outlet to the sea by water, and has no fear of ever suffering extortion at the hands of the transportation companies.

Polk and Marion counties, the two richest counties in the Willamette Valley, which is famed for its fertility the world over, are both tributary to Salem, being connected at this point by a new free bridge, erected at an expense of $50,000. This is the very center of the richest part of the richest valley on the Pacific Coast.

Salem has an advantage over other State Capitals from the fact that, under the requirements of the Constitution, the State Insane Asylum, State Penitentiary, Blind School, Deaf and Dumb School and other public institutions, are located here. Salem is universally admitted to be the most beautiful and healthy city on the Pacific Coast.

According to a census, completed by the clerk of the school district, in March, 1889, Salem showed an increase of over 25 per cent for the year. According to this census, the present population is about 11,000, of which nearly 3000 have been added within the past year. At the same rate of increase, her population will be over 30,000 within the next five years. She is now increasing more rapidly than ever before.

Salem is wide awake and progressive and is to-day spending more money to advertise and develop her resources than any other city of twice her size west of the Rocky Mountains.

Salem is surrounded upon all sides by the finest fruit, stock and grain lands in the world. Good fruit lands in California sell readily at $1000 per acre. Far better fruit lands near Salem, where no irrigation is ever required, can be bought at from $30 to $100 per acre.

No other locality upon the face of the globe offers greater inducements to the investor or homeseeker.

Property is cheap, but is rapidly enhancing in value.

Parties who wish to learn more in regard to this favored locality can secure illustrated descriptive pamphlets free upon application to President of the Board of Trade of Salem, Oregon.

THE OREGONIAN is desirous of hearing from the amateur baseball clubs this year and will publish items regarding such matters in the city and the state that are sent to the office. This office includes notes about the organization of teams, changes, etc. Further to advance the cause of the amateurs, THE OREGONIAN will furnish amateur score cards which are to be returned to the office when filled out. Captains of city clubs can procure them by calling at the business office; country clubs by addressing a stamped envelope to the sporting editor. Sporting items will be accepted from all parts of the state if signed. Address all communications to "Sporting Editor of THE OREGONIAN, Portland, Or."

DIAMOND DUST.

Cook is not doing any batting.

Barker throws too high to first.

Ward talks of quitting the Seattle's.

The Louisville club is not half paying expenses.

Bushnel is not batting so well as usual this year.

Pitcher Titcomb has signed with the Torontos.

Yale has taken the lead in the Intercollegiate race.

When Drummond does make a hit he makes a good one.

Timmons, formerly of the Portlands, is playing with the Seattles.

Baltimore lost eight straight games on their recent Western trip.

Cleveland says it will quit baseball if the classification rule is abolished.

Coffman has been released by the Seattles because of insubordination.

The Helena, W. T. club is in fine trim, and is prepared to do good work.

Beam, the new pitcher of the Pittsburgs, does good work. He is a little wild.

At Seattle last Sunday the Seattles downed the Port Townsends by a score of 13 to 5.

Boston is asking the league to waive claim to Ray, whose release they wish to sell.

Hamilton, secured from the Worcesters last season, leads the Kansas Citys in batting.

Chicago is weak in pitchers and catchers and will do well to get third place in the race.

Pittsburgh's chances for the league pennant seemed bright at first, but they are rather gloomy now.

In one of the Chicago games in Washington, Pitcher Ferson struck out in succession Pfeffer, Farrell and Burns.

Malloy injured his leg in a slide at Seattle Sunday. He was not badly hurt as he pitched for five innings afterward.

Tacoma has a promising club, but the grounds are too far outside the city and the boys do not get enough practice.

According to a Seattle paper, Devine and Calhoun are playing a little out of luck. That seems to be a habit with them.

Morgan is a good man for the Willamettes. He plays first base well and handles Tom Parrott's delivery as well as Turnbull.

Manager Rowe, of the Denvers, has signed a young pitcher named Kerley, who made a creditable showing in a game at Denver.

Tom Parrott is hitting the ball this year. He is at the head of the Willamettes' batting list, a place seldom occupied by pitchers.

The Portlands are doing some good batting, but somehow they do not make extremes meet, and they turn up the under dog in the fight.

The New Yorks have not settled down to work yet, still they are as well off as regards position in the race as they were at this time last year.

Lundin has been pitching strong ball lately and the Willamettes are unable to hit him with any ease. He throws a drop curve that is a puzzler.

Hugh Parrott is undoubtedly the best player in the Willamettes. He attends strictly to business, and in times of excitement has stood to the contest.

Earle's three bagger, with two men on bases in the eighth inning, was responsible for Louisville's loss of the first game in the present series at Cincinnati.

The Clevelands, who have been sarcastically dubbed the "Babies," are putting up good ball and are giving the older clubs of the league a tussle.

In a recent game at Philadelphia, Delehanty, second baseman of the Phillies, broke his collar bone in a slide, and will probably be laid up for several weeks.

Beam of Scottdale, Pa., who made his debut as league pitcher with the Pittsburgs on Saturday, has a striking arm that is birthmarked from the shoulder down.

Meandrics is one of the best players Portland has ever seen. He plays second base to perfection and does a great deal of ground. He is captain of the club and under his management the boys have been spruning up.

John W. Timmons makes the best umpire we have had. His judgment of balls and strikes is good. Likewise his decisions on field plays. His decisions are generally received with favor by players and spectators alike.

Paul McCarthy is a hard worker behind the bat. He plays the game for all it is worth and goes after every foul fly and his ballwick with a vim that is worthy of reward. Players of Paul's get are not made every day.

Hillsboro has a nine in uniform. Here are the names: Schuster, Wehring; pitcher, Handley Searcy; third base, Hughes, second base, Bruce; first base, Brown; left field, Embree, center field, Umphlette; right field, Humphreys.

The Post-Intelligencer says the Seattles are playing fine ball and fears if they keep on they will have trouble getting games. In case they wipe out the Sound country, Portland and East Portland have clubs that will accommodate them.

The Portland people are not patronizing the attendance of late has been shamefully small. Not over 300 people witnessed the games on Memorial day and last Sunday. Two games of the championship series have already been played. The other thirteen promise to be interesting.

The New York Tribune says: "The Boston and Philadelphia teams are decided elements in the race this year, and many well-posted baseball men think that the real fight will be between these two clubs and the Giants. The West, heretofore so formidable in the league race, does not seem to have nearly so good a chance as usual."

The Standards, of Portland, have organized for the season and are ready to hear from amateur clubs. Their make-up is as follows: Catcher, H. Wise; pitcher, J. Sinnott; short stop, George Lindsay; first base, W. Sinnott; second base, Ike Swarts; third base, — McIntire; left field, Sam Myer; center field, R. Burns; right field, Alfred Miller.

Drennan, who played right field for the Willamettes Sunday, is a long thrower. Vaughn and Landis drove the ball down to the fence and it looked as if their efforts would be good for home runs but Drennan threw the ball on a fly to the center of the diamond just as they rounded the second bag and it was only by lively skirmishing that they got to third.

Mrs. McAndries takes a great interest in baseball. She was a regular patron of the games in Denver, her former home, and goes to all the games in Portland. She occupies the stand with the scorers and reporters, and keeps a score of the game and criticises the boys on the diamond when they don't play to her notion. The Willamettes regard her as the Portlands' mascot.

Vaughn is playing the first base in good shape for the Portlands. True, he is not the grandstand player that Blanchard was but he stops the balls just the same. He is also a much better batter than Blanchard. His long hits in the recent games have gained no little glory for him, and when he comes to the plate there is no telling what may happen in the way of chasing for the fielders.

The Eastern clubs, with the exception of Brooklyn, are showing up poorly in the race for the pennant of the American association. Of the first four positions, three are held by Western clubs. The St. Louis team still holds the lead, but if the Brooklyn nine continues its present work, the champions will not hold the advantage much longer. The Athletics are even more disappointing this year than last.

Boston Herald: "Under the new rules the uncertainty of the game has never been so strikingly illustrated as this season. Clubs with as large a margin as a lead of six or seven runs in the early part of the game have been beaten out, while victory seemed sure. At Minneapolis, May 22, the home club had a lead of ten to one in four innings, when the opposing club, Des Moines, went in and made twelve runs in the next two innings, winning the game."

The Standards, of Portland, took a run out to Hillsboro Sunday and returned with the scalp of the Washington county boys hanging to their saddle. They had a pleasant time, and wish to return thanks to the Hillsboro boys for their courtesy and hospitality. The Standards had their own way in the game. The batteries were: Sinnott and Myers for the Standards and Handley and Wehring for the Hillsboros. Umpires: Gittner, of Portland, and Meek, of Glencoe. Sinnott struck out fourteen men. Appended is the score:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Standards	3	0	0	5	0	5	4	12	2	—31
Hillsboros	0	3	0	0	3	0	3	0	0	—9

ON THE TURF.

A good mile track has been laid out at Port Townsend.

A Detroit horse meets spectacles. His owner came to the conclusion that he was short sighted.

Spokane, since he defeated Proctor Knottt, is regarded as about the best 3-year-old that has yet appeared.

In the trot three in five for $250 a side between Rosa C. Delcee and Montana Boy at Seattle, Sunday, Rosa C. won in three straight heats. No official time was given.

The fastest time made so far in 1889 at three-quarters of a mile, is 1:14; San Cloche being the fleet sprinter to accomplish the feat, two weeks ago to-day at Brooklyn.

Some Grant county, (Or.), horse will be entered at the meeting at Quincy, Plumas county, California, commencing September 23. The purses amount to $10,000 in all.

Committees of the Portland Speed Association were around the city selling tickets for the June meeting. They sold upward of 1000. They will continue the sale to-day.

A great deal of interest is manifested in the trot three in five, for $1000 a side between Little Jo and Susie B. at City View park Saturday. Little Jo will trot Susie B. to a sulky.

The Speed Association has bought a good big bell to be used at the races. A steam pump has also been added to the grounds so that water can be pumped from the river through a pipe line to the track.

Spokane, the Seattle horse, who won the Kentucky derby, will run at Chicago, Kansas City and St. Paul, and then be taken East for the meetings at Monmouth, Westchester and Coney Island, where he has a number of engagements.

Many believe that Proctor Knott has seen his best days. His recent defeats have sent his stock away down in the market. An offer of $30,000 for him was refused in the spring, but it is said that the man who made the offer can have him for $20,000.

Only five of the famous brood mares in the country are out of the dams of 2:20 trotters, they being Beatrice, (dam of Patron, 2:14¼), whose dam produced Elvira, 2:18½; Lady Bunker (dam of Lady Wilkes, 2:13¾), whose dam produced Joe Bunker, 2:19¾; the dutchess (dam of Baron Wilkes, 2:18), whose dam produced Proteine, 2:18; Sable (dam of Sable Wilkes, 2:18), whose dam produced Romero, 2:19¾; and Susie (dam of DeBarry 2:19¾), whose dam produced Nettie, 2:18.

IN THE PRIZE RING.

Says the New York Sun: "It would not be surprising if La Blanche and Jack Dempsey were to meet in California before long. The Dempsey-Ellingsworth matter is still unsettled. A letter from John Ellingsworth says that Dempsey is holding off on the hope that Joe, in his disappointment, will go to drinking and so fall an easy victim to the Nonpareil when out of condition. Reading between the lines of this letter shows that Dempsey's side of the quarrel. He had with Ellingsworth was not prejudiced. John says that he has been very busy 'working the press' in Joe's behalf, that Dempsey pulled out $2000 and wanted to bet it, while a gambler friend of Joe's wanted to call him down with $500, and caps the climax by saying that in private Dempsey admits that Joe can whip him." By and by Joe and Jack will most likely meet in a ring, and if Ellingsworth is the victor—he will be a very fortunate fighter."

Jack Ailliffe and Billy Myer will probably come together in the East soon.

Billy Wilson, the Minnesota colored pugilist, is very anxious to meet Peter Jackson, the Australia champion. He is confident that he can defeat the antipodean.

IN BOATING CIRCLES.

William O'Connor, champion oarsman of the world, who was in this city with Lee, Hamm and Peterson, also professional oarsmen, last Saturday visited the Portland Rowing Association boat house. They arrived just in time to see Lew Quackenbush go out for his evening's practice. They pronounced him the best amateur oarsman they had ever seen. They also pronounced the Willamette river one of the best stripes of water for rowing purposes they had ever seen.

The Portland Rowing Association is talking of sending Quackenbush to Salt Lake to take part in the August regatta as Oregon's representative. They are also talking of sending A. B. McAlpin along with him to pull in the double scull races.

HE MUST BE A GOOD WALKER.

A letter from Eugene City to THE OREGONIAN says: "W. G. Day, of Kirwin, Kan., is here, and offers to wager from $50 to $1000 that he can walk 100 yards quicker than any horse in the state can run 444 yards. He will also offer the same amount that he can walk 100 yards faster than any man can run 170 yards."

ROD AND GUN.

Portland will send quite a delegation to the annual meeting of the Northwestern Sportsmen's Association, to be held at Tacoma June 17, 18 and 19. Two Portland teams will contend for the championship banner.

FOR TIRED BRAIN
Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.
DR. O. C. STOUT, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I gave it to one patient who was unable to transact the most ordinary business, because his brain was 'tired and confused' upon the least mental exertion. Immediate benefit, and ultimate recovery followed."

BOARD OF IMMIGRATION.

Proceedings at the Monthly Meeting of the Members Held Yesterday.

Contracts for Large Eastern Advertising Lot—A View of Portland—Oregon at the Paris Exposition.

The monthly meeting of the Oregon Immigration Board was held yesterday at 3:30 P. M., at the rooms of the board, No 16 Ash street. There were present Charles H. Dodd, president, Charles E. Sitton, vice president, Rilla C. Hughes, Wm. McFall, B. Solis Cohen, Eugene D. White and Thomas F. Osborn.

On motion of Mr. Hughes the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting was deferred.

Mr. E. Bolton addressed the board and requested copies of pictures of buildings to be displayed by him in the East. On motion of Mr. Cohen the secretary was instructed to furnish Mr. Bolton with such pictures as the board had on hand.

Professor Loney, commissioner to the Paris exposition, conferred with the board regarding representation of the state's resources at that exhibition. It was concluded to provide the professor with a letter of authority to represent the board and to supply him with a neat display of products and such printed matter as he might choose to take with him. His services are to be performed without charge to the board.

T. S. Norris, representing the Northwestern Lumberman, submitted a proposition to insert a two-page advertisement and one page of write-up in the forthcoming number of his paper to be devoted especially to the lumber interests of the Pacific Northwest. Mr. Norris's proposition was, on motion, laid on the table for future consideration.

The monthly bills of the board, aggregating $566 06, were audited and ordered paid.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Chas. H. Fuller's advertising agency, giving figures on half-page display advertisements in Eastern dailies. The estimate of Mr. Fuller being lower than any heretofore received by the board, the contract for the service was, on motion of Mr. Hughes, awarded to him. This provides for the insertion of a half-page advertisement two times in the New York Herald, Boston Globe and Philadelphia Record. The sum to be paid for the service is about $1800.

Estimates for advertising in leading agricultural papers were received from F. W. Ayer & Son, Lord & Thomas, Chas. H. Fuller and S. H. Parvin's Sons. On motion of Mr. Osborn the estimates were referred to the advertising committee with instructions to consider and report findings at next meeting.

A letter was read from Hon. John H. Mitchell in reply to the secretary of the board, stating that he would use his influence at the next session of congress to secure the printing of an extra edition of a pamphlet, issued by the signal service department on the climate of Oregon and Washington, if the board would so request him. On motion of Mr. Hughes, the board voted to petit on our congression delegation to use their influence to secure the printing of an edition of 250,000 of the pamphlet, to be circulated free by the board. The work is a very valuable one, being the result of careful research and covering a period of over sixteen years. The edition will number 10,000. If the desired number of copies can be secured they will prove useful immigration literature.

The communication of Barker & Co., of Duluth, asking for the agency of the board in New York city, was laid on the table for the present and the secretary instructed to ask the writers for references.

BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF PORTLAND.

H. R. Lewis, of the Lewis & Dryden Printing Company, submitted a probable estimate for a birds-eye view of the city of Portland to be inserted in the forthcoming "Portland Illustrated." His figures covered two sizes, 14x21 and 24x36. On motion of Mr. Cohen, Mr. Lewis was requested to prepare an exact estimate of the cost of the proposed work and prepare a design not to exceed in cost $25 and submit the same at the next meeting of the board. A general view of the city is constantly in demand, and the board believes that the printing of the same in large quantities will prove an effective means of advertising.

Mr. J. Alex Mayer, who will shortly leave for a tour of Europe, was, on motion of Mr. Hughes, granted a letter of authority to act as the board's representative, without compensation, and the secretary instructed to provide him with such printed matter as might be desired.

The time of the weekly meetings of the board was, on motion of Osborn, fixed at 7:30 P. M. of Wednesday. This will give the commissioners more time for deliberation, and notice into business hours. As every member of the board is a busy man, the utility of this arrangement will be appreciated.

THE NEW PORTLAND HOSPITAL.

The Executive Committee Decide to Build a Portion of it at Once.

The executive committee of the Portland Hospital association held a meeting at 3 o'clock last night, for the purpose of considering the advisability of proceeding with the erection of a portion of the proposed new hospital.

There were present G. W. Staver, president, John Kenyworthy, vice president, George H. Chance, secretary, and Dr. E. P. Fraser, and by invitation, Architect Stukes, Dr. Rishnebarn and Rev. McDermott.

The special business of the meeting was to consider the feasibility of proceeding forthwith to erect the center of the west facade of the new hospital building. After thoroughly discussing the matter, both pro and con, it was decided to build, and the architect was accordingly ordered to receive bids for excavating the basement and building the stone foundation.

The size of the portion to be built now will be 70x102 feet and three stories in hight. It will cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. The work will be pushed to completion, and it is expected that the wing will be ready for occupancy before next Christmas.

The building will be erected on the five-and-a-half-acre tract at Sunnyside, East Portland, recently purchased of William Abrahams.

Purchase your tickets and reserve your sleeping car accommodation at No. 121 First street, corner Washington, office Northern Pacific Railroad.

WONDERFUL CURES BY ELECTRICITY.

Editor Oregonian: I hold it to be a duty of every man to tell the truth, though some are ashamed to say they have been to an advertising doctor. I, for one, am not. My boy had been deaf some time, and under Dr. Darrin's electric and home treatment he has been cured. He was three months under treatment. Refer to me at Union Ridge, Clarke county, W. T. A. M. The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5.

THE BEAM IN THE EYE.

A democratic paper in Eastern Oregon publishes the portion of Bishop Potter's centennial address, which, as it says, "has aroused so much criticism," intending it, as it also says editorially, as a commentary on the course of the republican party. It has never been the part of THE OREGONIAN to screen political misdoing, or abuse of patronage and power, or to shield "plutocrats" who strive to make money identical with power in all shapes, but there is very little to be said for a politician of any party or degree who is identified with the machinations of party as involved in the schemes and plots that modern parties resort to, and that have become a corruption of the very idea of "politics," who can read the arraignment of existing politics in the United States uttered by Bishop Potter in his address at the New York centennial of the inauguration of Washington, and can reduce himself to so low a level as to present those utterances as only applicable to his political opponents and claim immunity for his own miserable self and his berotted party.

The address of Bishop Potter was useful as a warning against plutocratic influences in politics, to which there is too much tendency in these times; but the democratic assertion that its own party is altogether pure and free from this tendency, and that the republican party is wholly corrupt and given over to plutocracy, provokes a brief rejoinder.

To the doctrine that "to the victors belong the spoils," is due great part of the political venality of our times. To the democratic party we owe this doctrine, and the taint of the republican party is that it has not done more to destroy it. The sentiment is as base as human capacity can compass baseness. Again, in its long lease of power the democratic party deeply corrupted the public conscience by pandering to slavery for Southern votes, and it prostituted the ballot by giving it without pledge or scruple, without intelligence or patriotic feeling, to the lowest hordes of European emigration. It thereby secured votes—a result that it regarded as compensation for all threatenings and dangers whatsoever.

What Bishop Potter says of European emigration of the lowest order, let democracy take to itself and digest at leisure. All his address contains of rebuke for political corruption it can remember was originated by Jackson and continued since his time. An effort is making for reform, and to secure a pure ballot. A democratic governor of New York has vetoed the reform bill to secure an honest vote, for he knows how much bribery and corruption can do for his own ambition.

There are "plutocrats" in congress, but a full proportion of them are democrats. Money has become a large factor in our elections, but herein both parties are alike censurable. It is not forgotten that only last year a president of the United States, who was a candidate for re-election, gave $10,000 to his party's "corruption fund," and that the wealthy men of his cabinet gave larger sums. Of course, it is not possible to justify or excuse bad practices in one party by citing the bad practices of another, nor is moral reform to be promoted by a dispute between the pot and kettle as to which is the blacker. But it remains a truth that if we first cast the beam out of our own eye we shall then see more clearly to cast the mote out of our brother's eye.

THE ESSENCE OF CALAMITY.

The horrible calamity that has made a Pennsylvania valley a desolate waste and left the remains of its erewhile inhabitants rotting amid the wreck of their homes has no parallel in the history of disaster in America. Something akin to it may have been witnessed in the floods in China a few years ago, in which the wretched, despairing inhabitants were drowned by hundreds in their inundated rice fields, and the records that have come from time to time from Austria-Hungary of human beings by scores rendered houseless and reduced to the direst extremity of want from the encroachment of the waters have hinted at horrors which were sufficiently appalling, but nothing like the catastrophe that overtook Johnstown last Friday has ever before sickened and shocked our people. There seems, indeed, to have been no feature in the catalogue of horrors which was not embodied in this dreadful curse. The flood did its work of wreck and death with a suddenness that left the terror-stricken people little time to seek possible safety in flight, and, piling the wreckage of thousands of homes in one vast heap that covered acres of area, made it a mighty funeral pyre upon which the mutilated bodies of the victims were ruthlessly consumed. A swarm of human ghouls, that unfortunately escaped the wide-spread destruction, swooped down upon the uncoffined dead left by the receding waters and, by pillage, added man's inhumanity to the ruthless work of the elements. Humanity turned with avenging hand upon these dismatured wretches and added to the ghastly death list by hanging, shooting and drowning a number of them. The carnival of death was simply awful, and the stricken people alternate their wails of grief with cries of hunger and deep groanings of despair. The wreckage of hundreds of homes, holding the remains of their inmates was buried against a pier that withstood the weight and violence of the waters and taking fire increased the dismay, and added, if possible to the anguish of the less fortunate sufferers whom death had unkindly spared.

Amid all this woe and agony and desolation, the calm voice of expediency, of dispassionate, practical sanitary science is heard, protesting against a continuance of frenzied attempts to quench the fires in the debris of these wrecked homes, saying, the only hope of the living is in allowing the fire to do its work of purification by destroying the bodies which it is impossible to recover and bury before putrefaction taints the air and finishes the horrid drama by a riot of pestilence. But the people are in no mood to listen to the voice of discretion. The proposition, in the terrible tension of feeling which events have wrought seems the essence of barbarity itself; it is of the dead, and not of the living that the stricken ones are now thinking, and scorning the philosophy that bids the survivors consider their own interests first, these redouble their efforts to drown the flames, that perchance a recognizable body may be returned to them for decent burial.

It will be impossible to reach the end of this chapter of horrors for many days. After this ruthless play upon the human heartstrings is over; after the last of the luckless dead has been burned or buried and hope for possible tidings of the last of the missing has perished, the work of restoring shattered homes and re-establishing ruined industries will begin. Labor will put its steady hand once more to the wheel, and time will soften and dim the anguish that was born of the great calamity, but the lesson learned at a cost so fearful will never be forgotten; the new Johnstown will not be menaced by a volume of pent up waters, that wait only the coming of a mountain storm to release them and send them headlong upon the homes of a defenseless people. It will forever remain one of the saddest facts in the chronicles of disaster by flood, that human carelessness put it into the power of calamity to illustrate the lesson with such pathetic force.

Some days ago a statement was made through THE OREGONIAN that responsible parties in Boston and Chicago, if a bonus of $15,000 were raised at Portland, would establish and maintain a boot and shoe factory here, with a capacity of seventy-five cases of boots and shoes per day. They propose to erect a factory, building four stories high and give employment to 350 hands at once, and soon to a much larger number. A proposition to raise the sum named ($15,000) is now taking form, and it is received with a degree of favor that promises success. Several citizens of public spirit have signified a willingness to give aid, and no doubt others will, as the proposition is laid before them. This single factory would add at once and quite largely to our industrial population, and it would be the forerunner of other important industries. It is worth while for our citizens to give the proposal their favorable consideration.

MIRACLES.

A body of devout believers have been edified by a "miracle" at Johnstown. The water came into a church to the depth of fifteen feet, but didn't touch a statue of "The Blessed Virgin," though the statue was situated far below the line to which the water rose. The story recalls Southey's lines:

And water shall see thee,
And fear thee and flee thee;—

and yet opposite as these lines are, we doubt whether this poet was an inspired prophet. Since in these days there is an imagination that can conjure up a story like this one concerning the image at Johnstown, and a credulity that allows many to believe it, what wonder that in a past time, when there was an all-pervading credulity rooted in ignorance and superstition, and no habit of close observation or scientific inquiry, miracles were constantly reported? But miracles never happen, never did happen, in the presence of persons prepared to test them. In all ages, however, they have been reported among those ready to accept and believe them. There is one indispensable condition that prepares the way for miracles, and that condition is credulity. Given credulity, and with credulity an appeal to the religious nature of man, and there will be miracles in bountiful supply. So it always has been, so it always will be. And the reason why fewer miracles are now reported than formerly is the fact that advance of general culture sweeps away the ignorant credulity in which such reports find their soil and take root. As modern miracles disappear under the test of inquiry, the process tends to overthrow belief in miracles reported of old, so that Christianity, which made much of miracles in days of ignorance, superstition and credulity, now in a more enlightened age finds its witness, not in these illusory and deceptive signs demanded by a materialistic and vulgar faith, but in the nature and needs of man.

A physician of Chester, Pa., was recently guilty of most unprofessional conduct and was properly punished therefor by suspension from the local medical association. He advised a mother to give her child sage tea for some ailment. His offense consisted in not making out a regular prescription, charging for the same and sending to the drug store for the extract of the herb, instead of calling it by its plain old-fashioned name and giving the woman a chance to go out in the garden and get it and brew her own decoction. Wonders will probably never cease. The world may yet hear of the suspension from his union of a plumber for lending a man a soldering iron and telling him how to utilize a bit of pewter spoon in repairing the waste pipe to his kitchen sink instead of sending up a man to do the job, charging for two hours' work and rendering a bill of from $3 to $5 for material. We say this guardedly, however, not willing to establish a reputation for being visionary. The world may hear of a reasonably well authenticated case of this kind, but we will add that it is not probable that it will. But then who would have thought of a doctor going back upon the profession by telling a mother to sweat her child with "sage tea?" Do not science and professional ethics alike demand that he should have declared a diaphoretic necessary and written a prescription calling for a drachm of extract of "salvia officinalis" in characters calculated to mystify everyone but his druggist clerk.

Missouri reports a man who would make an ideal juryman. He has not read a newspaper for fifty years and boasts that he has neither politics nor opinions. The scarcity of material of this kind has brought the process of impaneling a jury in a murder case to be the tedious and uncertain thing that it is. The pessimist who sighs for a return of the good old days should seek out this man to embrace him.

England, moved by the touch of pity that makes the whole world kin, sends a generous donation to the sufferers from the Pennsylvania floods. The sympathy that reaches for the pocket book, and finding, opens and shares its contents with the victims of misfortune, is of a practical type that puts empty-handed prayers and pious counsels of submission to Divine decree to shame.

Among the towns of Oregon that show renewal of life and increase of activity is Salem. This fact is more apparent at Salem than it has been during many years past. The city is building rapidly, every energy is awake, and citizens are determined to keep her in the van of the new progress.

SPECIAL CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

Of Applicants for the Position of Railway Mail Clerks.

In order to secure ample registers of persons eligible for appointment to the position of railway mail clerk from the following named states special examinations of applicants for said position will be held by the U. S. Civil Service Commission on the dates and at the places named below.

Persons who have already filed applications with the commission for such an examination, and have been furnished with cards notifying them of the approval of their applications, will be admitted to the examinations on said card. Persons who have not filed such applications should apply to the commission for the proper blanks, which they should have filled up and filed with the commission, on the earliest practicable date.

No other applicants than those for the railway mail service will be examined on the dates given below.

Each applicant should take with him to the examination pen, penholder, pencil, ink and scratch paper.

A few blank applications will be sent to the postmaster at each place named hereon, and can be obtained from him by the applicant.

PYROTECHNICS FOR THE FOURTH.

Meeting of the Sub-Committee on Fireworks and Illumination.

The sub-committee of the general Fourth of July committee, who have the fireworks and illumination in charge, held a meeting at Freimann's restaurant at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Chairman W. W. Spaulding, of the committee, detailed several members to look after the different branches of the subject the committee had to handle. It was decided to give a double river parade on the evening of the Fourth.

The parade will form at the steel railway bridge, extending to the Morrison-street bridge. After the procession has formed, it will move up as far as Ross Island, turn around and come back to the city. During this time a large supply of fireworks will be set off from the boats and barges. From present indications the celebration this year will far surpass all former attempts.

No provisions have yet been made for an exhibition of fireworks in this city, owing to the uncertain conditions of the committee's finances. It will take about 3000 Japanese lanterns to light up the river parade.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.—The High School Association held a meeting for the election of officers of the High school building Monday evening. After disposing of various routine matters in connection therewith, the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: [illegible] president; Miss Ida Hornbuckle, vice president; Miss Nellie Seeley [illegible]; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Wells; historian, Scofield Council; poet, Frank Wells; historian, Miss Ida Hornbuckle; prophet, Walter Dodd. The [illegible] with either upon the duties of their [illegible] decided to hold the annual [illegible] in August. It was decided to hold the annual [illegible] on the 26th of June, and to this end several committees were appointed. Reunion day will be observed [illegible] literary exercises, a dinner, dancing, and perhaps an excursion.

FOR DOUGLAS ISLAND MINES.—Mr. C. E. Benn, president of the Alaska Gold Company returned yesterday from a visit to Douglas Island, Alaska. He reports everything flourishing at the Bear's Nest mine. The boarding house for the employees and the house for the superintendent are completed, and the foundation for the mill ready, and the timber all cut, the machinery is on the way to the mine, and a supply of water has been secured by the pipe all laid. The tunnel at the sea level is 300 feet, and is within about fifty feet of the ledge. Mr. Benn came down to attend a meeting of the directors and make his report and will return to the mine soon, to remain there till the stamps are ready. Every one connected with the mine is [illegible] in the greatest in the world.

TIMBERMEN COMPELLED TO LEAVE.—Three [illegible] started in to work the crowd that [illegible] the picnic of the Marine band at Columbia [illegible] gave last Sunday. James F. Shaw, a member of the band, discovered them playing their [illegible] vocation after they had swindled some [illegible] unsuspecting fellows out of $40 and ordered [illegible] to leave the grounds immediately. They [illegible] to leave the county road and returned [illegible] and went on the county road and returned [illegible] but people living near by got [illegible] and threatened to play havoc [illegible] again, and threatened to play havoc with their outfit unless they made themselves [illegible] scarce. The two and four cappers who had volunteered [illegible] quickly began playing [illegible] and left the neighborhood.

THE SHERIDAN WORKS.—Mr. Chase, who bought the Sheridan works at Brooklyn on Saturday, is the president of the smelting works being erected [illegible] the land on which the works are located [illegible] that land on which the buildings are [illegible] amount, to say nothing of the building [illegible] and a lot of ore or "mat" on hand [illegible] generally supposed that Mr. Chase bought [illegible] the purchase as an agent, and that the property has fallen into the hands of a local capitalist [illegible] keep it running if he wished. A number of [illegible] who invested a thousand or two of dollars to help the enterprise now have the extreme [illegible] while some one else has captured the [illegible].

LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Ladies' Relief Society was held in the lecture room of the Unitarian church yesterday afternoon. [illegible] a most complete foundry of this kind [illegible] and have secured the services of a first class machinist to superintend the same. [illegible] foundry in addition to the many other features [illegible] Palmer & Rey's establishment makes it [illegible] most complete pattern warehouse west of Chicago. Anyone needing first class electrotype [illegible] work can secure the same at Palmer & Rey's, at lowest rates.

HUNT HIS OWN, BOYS, INDEED.—Complaint is made that boys are killing some of the recently [illegible] song birds. It must be a very bad boy who would kill any of the pretty song birds, whether native or foreign; and as there is an ordinance providing for punishing any one [illegible] killing birds, any boy found [illegible] killing birds should be promptly arrested. It is not possible that there are many boys so cruel and wicked as to kill harmless birds, and if some of the bad ones were properly punished it would put a stop to others doing so.

ARRESTED INSPECTOR, APLOAR.—Mr. Dick Ennis, a young man well known in this city, has received an appointment as inspector afloat for the district of Alaska, and will assume his duties [illegible] August next. Elder arrives about the [illegible] last of the route between Portland and Astoria. Mr. Ennis is qualified for the position and the appointment is a deserving one. His friends congratulate him upon his good fortune and bespeak for him success in his new sphere of labor.

TO YOUNGS AND OTHERS.—The ladies of the First Christian church of this city, will give an excursion Saturday, June 8, to Multnomah Falls and return. One dollar pays the fare, including a magnificent picnic dinner; 50 cents for children. The proceeds to be used in the erection of the new church. This is a good opportunity for tourists to see some of the grand scenery of the Columbia river, to aid a good cause.

A NEW FLING OF AMUSEMENT.—Work was yesterday begun on J. F. Cordray's new menee and dancer on the quarter block on the southeast corner of Third and Yamhill streets, until lately used as a lumber yard. Men were engaged in clearing the ground and setting the poles. The building will occupy the corner and Mr. Cordray hopes to have it ready for occupancy by the Fourth of July.

WILL ERECT A MILL.—The directors of the Argyle Mining Company have determined to erect a mill at the mine as soon as possible. They have done enough development work to satisfy them that they have a good thing, and they all expect to be millionaires soon. Jeffrey says he will continue to recognize his old friends when he gets rich, and that is probably all he will do for them.

SEVERE SCALP WOUND.—A carpenter named Adam, employed on the cold storage warehouse, was thrown from the upper part of the building by a board breaking, and received a severe scalp wound, force striking his head on a piece of timber, and his left thumb was broken. He was picked up in an insensible condition and taken to his home in East Portland.

A CONTRACT AUTHORIZED.—The chief of engineers has authorized Captain W. W. Young to let a contract to R. L. Hall for the sheet pile dike and brush revetment necessary for the improvement at Dry Stocking bar, Tillamook bay. Work will be begun as soon as possible, as the contract is to be completed by September 30.

LIVES IN SUSPENSE.—There are quite a number of persons in this city having relatives and friends in the district of Pennsylvania where the late flood disaster occurred, and who are living in a terrible state of suspense awaiting tidings. Two families here have only received telegrams announcing the safety of their immediate relatives.

MORE MEETINGS.—There will be a meeting at the Albina schoolhouse this evening (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock for the purpose of nominating a people's ticket for the ensuing city election of the city of Albina. Every independent citizen is requested to come and all the three wards are expected to be represented.

ELECTRIC LIGHT EXCURSION TO-NIGHT.—The Young Men's Institute No. 56, annual excursion will take place to-night. The steamer S. G. Reed, and a handsomely decorated barge with canvassed floor, has been engaged, and all attending are promised a pleasant evening. Boat leaves Ash street wharf at 8 P. M.

TO MOUNT TABOR.—The motor line to the summit of Mount Tabor will be completed this week, it will probably be thrown open to the public on Saturday, on which day the Episcopalian church will have a grand excursion and picnic to the mount. Everybody will be there on that day.

ANOTHER CASE OF A DRIVE.—Captain A. B. Brannan, who has been ill for the past two weeks with a slight attack of malarial fever and rheumatism, is so far advanced on the road toward recovery as to be out a little yesterday to take a drive out through the city.

HAVE PAID IN SILVER.—W. C. Noon & Co., on Monday paid $94.00 duty on bog material which they imported. The money was all in silver and weighed about 1200 pounds, and had to be conveyed to the custom house in an express wagon.

LACE CURTAIN SALE at E. Meyer & Co. We will have a special sale of lace curtains for this week. Nice curtains 3 yards long for $1 per pair; 3½ yards long for $1 50 per pair, 3¼ yards long for $2 per pair. Call early at E. Meyer & Co.

THE LARGEST ROOM IN THE WORLD.—This evening in the First Congregational church. A humorous and entertaining lecture by Rev. B. F. Bailey. If you don't hear it you will miss a good thing.

ALL TRAVELERS are invited to call at L. S. Mayer & Co's, Morrison, for elegant lunch goods.

AN INFAMOUS DEN.

PORTLAND, June 4.

To the EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

There was a timely local in your issue of this morning in regard to the Bacchanalian orgies that are nightly carried on in the so-called [illegible] establishments, together in the vicinity of Seventh and Salmon streets. These infamous goings-on have been a source of annoyance to the respectable residents of the locality. Not a great while ago the heart-rending sobs and cries of a woman evidently in deep distress, mingled with frequent [illegible] of horror, were heard at intervals [illegible] through one whole night proceeding from one of [illegible], while from an adjacent room sounds of [illegible] and mad revelry, and clinking of wine [illegible], floated through the open window. The [illegible] of the policeman on this beat has frequently been called to these outrageous revels, [illegible] an annoyance to the respectable people who are unfortunate enough to reside on [illegible] street, especially to those immediately [illegible] adjoining this den, yet no attention has been paid by them to the complaints, except to [illegible] complainants should be made to "the [illegible] of the police" to the matter can be easily [illegible] whereupon it is known that they are frequently seen coming out of the house, especially at night, having doubtless entered it to obtain a bit of drink or a bite of grub to sustain them in their weary watch.

It is an outrage upon every respectable resident of the locality to permit this den of vice to flaunt its shamelessness in their faces. We will soon have a splendid hotel within a few hundred feet of this house. A nice commentary upon the morals of our city will be the close proximity of such an establishment.

If the nuisance is to be permitted to infest this locality, adjacent landlords may as well begin to look for new tenants of a similar stripe to the one who now runs this gilded haunt of infamy. They will have no difficulty in converting it into as desirable a residence locality as the vicinity of Fourth and Yamhill has already become through the multiplication of similar dives.

CITIZEN.

WHERE JUSTICE IS DISPENSED.

Larsen Pleads Guilty—Jurors Drawn—Held to Answer—New Suits Commenced—Appointed Guardian.

Rasmus Larsen, indicted for obstructing the United States mails, by tearing up the track of the O. R. & N. Co.'s road from Arlington to Heppner, withdrew his plea of not guilty in the United States circuit court yesterday and entered a plea of guilty and was fined $75. He intends to pay the fine.

JURORS DRAWN.

In the United States circuit court yesterday Judge Deady ordered that twelve additional jurors be drawn and summoned, making forty-seven summonses issued for the trial jury of this term. Following is a list of those drawn.

T. Barnard, farmer Oakland.
N. K. Sitton, farmer, Carlton.
John Kruse, farmer, Wilsonville.
I. C. Kinney, milliman, Astoria.
V. Hemmenway, farmer, Eugene City.
D. F. Lewis, farmer, Dayton.
W. C. Noon, manufacturer, Portland.
John Irvine, farmer, The Dalles.
B. F. Laughlin, capitalist, The Dalles.
Jacob Wisecarver, farmer, Milton ville.
H. B. Oatman, real estate agent, Portland.
W. S. Allen, farmer, Eola.

NEW SUITS.

Michael B. Ward has begun an attachment suit against L. M. Davis in the state circuit court to recover $10,960. He charged that last March he and Augusta Rees gave Davis the money to purchase a two-thirds interest in some land in this county, but Davis, instead of doing so, converted the coin to his own use.

The Schmidt Label & Lithograph Company, of San Francisco, sued Theodore H. Liebe to recover $370 40 for work done.

M. Levingur sued the Commercial National bank for $1216 44, money deposited which he claims the bank refuses to pay.

James Martin & Son, of Louisville, Ky., sued I. W. Baird for $400, due on promissory notes.

COLEMAN HELD TO ANSWER.

W. S. Coleman, charged with threatening to do bodily harm to his wife, Julia, waived examination in Justice Phelan's court yesterday, and was held to appear before the grand jury with bonds fixed at $500. His wife alleges that her husband has acted most brutally towards her, and she is in constant fear that he will assault her much to her detriment.

The defendant, of course, denies his wife's allegations and says that he will be able to clear himself.

DEUTSCH HELD TO ANSWER.

Deutsch, the baker, arrested for assaulting Fred Roedel, an employe, with a two-pound weight, waived examination in Justice Tuttle's court yesterday, and was held to appear before the grand jury with bonds fixed at $200. It will be seen by the above that Roedel was not the defendant, as has been reported, but the injured party. He is badly cut about the face.

A WOMAN CITIZEN.

Mrs Lydia J Callwell, a native of Canada, was admitted to citizenship by Judge Stearns yesterday. She came to the United States before she was of age, and was therefore made a citizen on her affidavit.

CASHIER WITHINGTON APPOINTED GUARDIAN.

George R Withington, cashier of the First National bank, was yesterday appointed guardian of Louisa Manciet by County Judge Catlin. His bond was fixed at $2000.

THEY CAN WED.

Marriage licenses were granted yesterday for Christopher Voss and Matilda Wrage, Herman Barthel and Aurora Borsmann, A. F. Johnson and Minnie Johnson.

FEW ENTRIES ON THE BLOTTER.

James Graham vs. Louis Ross; set for trial June 25.

Merchants' National Bank vs. George Pope et al.; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

E. Hardy & Co. vs. John Bigne and Joseph Watson; motion for new trial denied.

Neff Danziger vs. M. Kaminsky; case dismissed; papers withdrawn.

STATE CIRCUIT NO. 2.

State vs John Fay; plea of not guilty; set for trial June 25.

State vs Frank Jarvis; same plea; set for trial June 26.

State vs. James Brannon; set for trial June 27.

Maria Schuster vs. Herman Schuster, motion to set aside default withdrawn, set for June 8.

John Tait et al vs. A. J. Martin; N. Wolfe appointed receiver of property named in complaint.

Carrie L. Hadlock vs. Samuel A. Hadlock; decree of divorce on the grounds of cruelty, failure to provide and drunkenness.

THE MINSTRELS.

Johnson & Slavin's Minstrels Give a Pleasing Performance at New Park.

A very neat and most enjoyable straight minstrel entertainment was that given by Johnson & Slavin's company last evening at the New Park theater. This organization has long been before the public and has always been conspicuous for the high class work it has done in this line. It has always aimed at a high standard in minstrelsy and the combined efforts of two such clever artists as Carroll Johnson and Bob Slavin have succeeded in bringing and keeping together a company almost as clever in their respective lines as they themselves.

The first part setting, in its richness of color, novelty of arrangement and black satin court costumes and white wigs, makes a very attractive picture, and the work of the company in the first part is first-class in every respect. The jokes, with a few exceptions, are new and good, and the singing is the best of any ever heard here from a minstrel company. In fact the principal feature of the company is its beautiful singing. Harry Foresman's tenor and Raymond Shaw's soprano are heard to fine advantage in their solos, while Carroll Johnson, Bob Slavin, Burt Haverly and Tommy Donnelly kept the house in roars with their witticisms.

Fred B Malcolm, in his female impersonations, is up to the average, the drill of the clog dancers is quite clever, and the sot-to between the juvenile Mehaune brothers is amusing.

The performance concludes with the musical burlesque of the "Lost Ace, or the Island of Pokah," in which the whole company appears. This ending is out of the usual run, and in it the company does some very fine musical work, as well as some very amusing acting.

They remain here the rest of the week.

PERSONAL.

Hon. W. B. Gilbert has gone East to remain about a month. He stops for a short time in Arkansas on business, and then proceeds to Washington D. C., to visit relatives and friends.

The wife and son of Mr. V. A. Fryer, deputy clerk of the state circuit court have been dangerously ill with typhoid fever for several days. Their condition was much improved yesterday and hopes are entertained for their recovery.

Michael B Goldstein, manager of the Chicago Comedy Company, which has been playing in the valley during the past five weeks, left last night for Astoria, to make arrangements for the appearance of the company there. Mr Goldstein says the company has been playing to good business in the valley.

BRIEF MENTION.

Parasols—McAllen & McDonnell, Third and Morrison.

Curtain sale at McAllen & McDonnell's, leading dry goods store for first class goods at Eastern prices.

Go to H Sinsheimer, No. 214 First street, for the best pianos and organs. He carries only the standard instruments, such as Steinway & Sons and other pianos, Burdett and Story and Clark organs, the best in the world. Easy payments.

The Kohler & Chase Music House, 71 Morrison street, is regularly in receipt of large consignments of the standard instruments, both pianos and organs. Every body intending to purchase a piano should examine the matchless Decker Brothers, carried only by this firm, before making a choice.

Ladies will please take notice that to-day McAllen & McDonnell, of Third and Morrison, will offer their immense stock of curtains at clearance prices: 250 pair 75c, 400 pair $1, 300 pair $2 25, 175 pair $1 50, 400 pair $1 75, 88 pair $2 50, 50 pair $3, 40 pair $3 50, 25 pair $5, also a few odd pair of extra fine curtains. All are taped and 2½ to 4½ yards long. Portieres $10, $12 50 and $15. Note the location.

It is beyond question that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral heads the list of remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs.

PORTLAND, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5

OUR DEBT TO FRANCE

The French exposition now in progress reminds us of our debt to that great nation The extent of this debt is shown by the volume recently published, compiled from the hitherto unpublished documents of the French archives by John Durand These archives contain the only existing reports of the debates of the continental congress through the letters of Beaumarchais to the Count de Vergennes, Louis the Sixteenth s minister of foreign affairs This correspondence and that of the envoys of France to the American continental congress reveal the fact that that body did not hesitate to intrigue against Washington and Franklin Franklin not Jefferson was the inspiring constructive brain of the American revolution Patrick Henry was its orator unsurpassed save by James Otis Jefferson was its penman or rhetorician but Franklin was in political prescience beyond all question the original engineer of revolt the constructive statesman, the thinker who fulminated and organized the ideas of insurrection There is no question that Franklin converted the conservative Washington to his radical views and the absolute integrity of Washington s character in both war and peace combined with his military capacity made the revolution a success, because France, who really won our fight was gained by the statesmanship of Franklin and Washington

It is clear, from these French archives, that France was persuaded to help America chiefly because France believed in the wisdom of Franklin and the absolute intelligence integrity and military common sense of Washington These French archives prove that Franklin and Washington were the real brains and virility of the "rebellion" Sam Adams Arthur Lee John Adams and Richard Henry Lee suffer in reputation by the publication of the French archives which make clear the fact that not one of these four eminent men was a sincere friend of Washington while their hatred and jealousy of Franklin is scarcely disguised France was with great difficulty brought to take our side and her final embracement of our cause was due not to Lafayette who was too young to influence the French court but to the Count de Vergennes the minister of foreign affairs who finally overcame the scruples of dull and obstinate Louis, and persuaded him to throw the weight of France on the side of the colonies

The reports to the French foreign office in 1778 reveal a curious state of things The French officer who makes this report writes

Boston is the head and heart The tone here is English Four years of war have somewhat strained the springs of patriotism Purely popular forms of government and of religion favor democratic virtues but the commercial spirit and luxurious tastes are gradually stifling the love of independence Republicans here like the Carthaginians, know to a penny the value of life and liberty The state is divided into two parties one calls itself republican and is composed of every body who holds office and is led by Bowdoin and [Samuel] Adams One [the latter] belongs to that double faced class which styles hypocrisy moderation, while the other is sensible and intelligent, but indolent through principle and temperament Bowdoin will probably be made governor The opposition party the true republican party, is led by Hancock He is the king of the rabble or the American Beaufort. His credit with the masses is great his policy is shrewd and even crafty He is the more opposed to Samuel Adams because they were once friends and to Bowdoin because he is a rival. He befriends us [the French] only because he hates them

In New York the royalist party is large but under the whip of the army has shown heroic constancy The governor Livingston, is a Roman. A party against him has just arisen under the lead of Dickinson and Cadwallading who if lost will supplant him There are a good many tories but they are prosecuted as state criminals Pennsylvania he describes as the province most infested with royalists Quakers Moravians Anglicans and other sects whose principles have a sort of affinity with monarchy form intestine but paralyzed enemies Patriotism is null in that adelphia it has become almost farcical For tunately the idol in every state All who are well off are corrupt at heart and so athirst for peace that this would be welcomed at any price

In Maryland the commercial men are described as royalists In Virginia Lord Dunmore s emancipation proclamation is mentioned as a fatal blow to the royalist cause which alienated from England the bulk of the tidewater aristocracy North Carolina is described as feeble and South Carolina as having rather moral nor physical energy Charleston like all trading towns beats open to the highest bidder This officer writes his government in conclusion that Richard Henry Lee and General Gates are never weary of trying to undermine and upset Washington of whom he says

The political antipathies of individuals and the squabbles between state and state be what they may, General Washington is the bliss of America and the god of the army His authority is mild and paternal He is probably the only man who could have effected a revolution This great man has only one defect very creditable to him—too much integrity for a party leader

In another passage he says that in Virginia Washington has only to mount the first stump to make dissatisfaction disappear The immense personal influence of Washington is the theory dwelt upon by this correspondent of the French foreign office When the Revolution closed we owed Beaumarchais 3 600 000 francs Hamilton in 1 03 admitted that the United States owed Beaumarchais at least 2 280 000 francs and yet in 1835 his heirs were offered the option of taking 800 000 francs or nothing This money was due for arms and ammunition forwarded by a commercial house founded by Beaumarchais in 1776 and secretly provided with capital by France and Spain France sent us the trained officers Pulaski DeKalb and best of all Steuben The enormous cost of aiding the American colonies produced the financial difficulties which compelled the convocation of the states general and brought about the French Revolution Had Neckar been a Hamilton there would have been no French Revolution in 1 89

The correspondence of Gerard the first minister sent by France to this country in 1778 shows that before the conclusion of the treaty with France of February 6 1778 there was active action in congress whose aim was to maintain a sort of balance of power so that in case of a capitulator with England they would be ready to profit by it To this party belonged the clergyman Witherspoon of New Jersey and Sam Adams of Massachusetts The political feeling of Philadelphia in 1778 is thus depicted "Every body almost refuses to be a tory (against the tories) The Quakers especially are accused of rendering all sorts of services to the English army Scarcely one quarter of the ordinary inhabitants of Philadelphia now here favor the cause for independence Commercial and family ties together with an aversion to popular government seem to account for this The same feeling exists in New York and Boston which is not the case in the rural districts where the people are more cultivators than merchants" Gerard further says

Personal disinterestedness and pecuniary integrity have shed no luster on the birth of the American republic All its agents have derived exorbitant profits from manufacturers. A selfish and calculating spirit is widespread in this land, and although I can well see that limits are put to its extension, there is no condemnation of the sentiment. Mercantile cupidity forms, perhaps, one of the distinctive traits of the American, especially of the Northern people and it will undoubtedly exercise an important influence on the future destiny of the republic.

Gerard expresses the conviction that "if the English had shown themselves in America one half as energetic, confident and courageous as they have only too often shown themselves elsewhere they would have met with very little resistance"

In one of the debates of the continental congress, Richard Henry Lee and Sam Adams maintained that the United States, after entering into an alliance with France and incurring heavy obligations to that power had a right to treat independently with England They failed to carry a majority of congress with them, but otherwise France would have withdrawn her troops and the surrender of Cornwallis would have been impossible It is clear, from the testimony of these French archives, that we owed our independence primarily to the statesmanship of Franklin and to the soldiership and statesmanship of Washington, and secondarily to the aid of men and money extended by France After Saratoga the force of American resources was spent and England would have achieved an easy triumph if it had not been for the money, the men and the fleet of France

The New Elevator—Jailbirds Escape—Accidents and Personal Mention

DAYTON W T June 3—The new elevator built by the Perry Elevator Company is finished and presents a very imposing appearance The building is substantially put up and will hold about 60 000 bushels of wheat Powerful scales are now being placed in position As soon as painted, the building will be ready for business.

Ed Minick and J Sproule escaped from the county jail by breaking one of the iron bars of the corridor, which had previously been filed through Minick is the young man who stole some money from B M Washburne a few months ago while Sproule stole a watch from a young man who roomed in the same house with him Both were awaiting their trial, which was to take place next week There is no doubt that parties on the outside assisted on the bar shows evidence of having been filed from the outside, No blame is attached to the sheriff

OREGON REAL ESTATE CO.,
3 Morrison Street, Portland, Or.

ALBINA ADDITION.

This is the finest and most desirable property on the East Side; is nearer to churches, schools and the [illegible] and residence center of the City of Albina than any other offered.

Notice particularly, that it is but four blocks distant from the high school on Russell street, and but [illegible] blocks distant from the North school, the two principal public schools of the city. There are two churches within two blocks, other churches in the immediate vicinity, and the entire tract surrounded by substantial and attractive homes Albina addition is inside property with a sure and established value, which will rapidly advance It is but one block to the line of the proposed electric street railway, which will enter the City of Portland by way of the new steel bridge, already constructed and in operation at North Third and F sts. Every lot in Albina addition is cleared of stumps and all rubbish; the soil is rich black loam and the situation everything that is desirable for pleasant homes or business property. Prices from $350 upwards. Terms, one-third cash, balance to suit purchasers Call on or address

THE VALLEY OF DEATH

Two Thousand Men Searching Amid the Debris for Bodies.

NIGHT WORKING DAY AND NIGHT.

Nowhere Can Vast Charnel House—Fire Still Burning in the Ruins—Aid for the Sufferers—Three Trains Wrecked.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Four days have elapsed since the angel of death swept down through the valley of the Conemaugh, but no ray of sunshine has yet lightened the scene of horror at Johnstown bridge. The sky is still overcast with heavy clouds and the sun rests behind the menacing pall as though reluctant to view the handiwork of its present power. For thirty-six hours fire has played upon the smoking ruins of the bridge, but the flames break out afresh at frequent intervals despite the force of the water. Nearly 2000 men are employed in different parts of the valley tearing up ruins and prosecuting the search for the dead. Investigations are not without fruit-ful results, for bodies, the charred victims of the flood and fire, are discovered with undiminished frequency. It becomes hourly more and more apparent that not a single vestige will be recognized of hundreds roasted in the flames above the bridge.

Since the last sentence was penned, a party of searchers unearthed a charred and unsightly mass from the smouldering ruins within twenty yards of the Associated Press Headquarters. The verdict of a physician was that the ghastly discovery was the charred remains of a human being. Only the trunk remained, and it was charred beyond all resemblance to flesh. Five minutes sufficed to reduce the fragments of a skull, who's work revealed the fragments of a skull, what at once disintegrated, of its own weight. When exposed to the air. No single part bigger than half a dollar was found, and the whole resembled the remnants of shattered charcoal. Within this last hour, half a dozen discoveries, in no way less horrifying, have been made by the searchers as they rake with picks and hooks in the smoking ruins. So difficult is it at times to determine whether the remains are those of human beings, it is apparent that hundreds must be burned to ashes. Thus the number that have found a last resting place beneath the ruins can at best never be more than approximated.

WORKING DAY AND NIGHT.

Many Men Have Not Slept an Hour Since Last Friday.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Moxham, the iron manufacturer, is mayor pro tem. of Johnstown to-day. He is probably the busiest man in the United States. Although for days he has gone without sleep, he sticks nobly to his task. There are hundreds of others like him. Men fall from sheer fatigue, and there are many who have not closed an eye in sleep since they awoke on Friday. They are hollow-eyed and pitiful-looking. Many have lost near relatives and all their friends.

Men and horses are most needed to-day. Scores of the unfortunates, who could not go to the different trains, endeavored to obtain food from the wrecked stores in Johnstown. One dealer was charging $5 a sack for flour. Suddenly a crowd heard of the occurrence, and several desperate men went to the store and delivered flour gratuitously to the homeless and stricken people. Another was selling flour at $1.50 a sack. He refused to give any away, guarding his store with a shotgun.

Many bodies recovered in Johnstown today had been robbed, by ghouls that flock to the scene. It is known that one lady had several hundred dollars in her possession just before the disaster, but when her body was recovered not a cent was in her pocket. The Huns attacked the supply wagon between Morrellville and Cambria City, to-day. The drivers repulsed them, but they again returned, and a second fight ensued, but after a lively scrambling the Huns were again driven away. After that the drivers and guards of supply wagons were permitted to go armed. Registers are being opened in Johnstown and all survivors are requested to register in order to give information to friends.

HORRIFYING SCENES.

Johnstown One Vast Charnel House—Probably Ten Thousand Lives Lost.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Hour by hour the calamity grows more horrifying. Every moment now the body of some poor victim is taken from the debris, and the town is one vast charnel house. The scene at the extemporized morgue is beyond description in ghastliness, while the moans and groans of the suffering survivors tossing in agony, with bruised and mangled bodies, or raving in the delirium of a fever, in the numerous hospitals, make even the stoutest heart quail with terror. Nearly 2000 bodies have already been recovered, and as the work of exhuming goes on, the conviction grows that the magnitude of the calamity has not been approximated. Estimates this morning put the number of dead at 7000, and many men of calm judgment, who are not wont to exaggerate, and who have been upon the ground from the outset, place the number at 10,000.

RAILROAD COMMUNICATION ESTABLISHED.

The first relief train, bearing thousands of pounds of provisions for the sufferers, and 200 coffins for the dead, has passed over the Johnstown bridge across the improvised trestle to the Johnstown depot. For the first time railroad communication has been established between the stricken town and the outside world.

THE BODIES MUST BURN.

Providence Interferes in the Interest of the Public Health.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—It is not believed now that the fire in the wreck at the bridge can be extinguished for a week. The hand of Providence is in it. The suggestions made by physicians yesterday that the bodies not buried be allowed to be cremated in the interest of public health, which aroused such a storm of indignation among the survivors, is viewed with more calmness to-day. There is a growing sentiment that it is after all the best solution of the problem. Weeks and months will be required to remove the stupendous mass by artificial means, and in the mean time the putrifying remains of humanity buried therein will be dealing death to all in the surrounding country.

BODIES RECOVERED AND IDENTIFIED.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—Among the bodies recovered this morning, the following were identified: Mrs. Harry R. Smith, wife of the cashier of the Johnstown Company, and infant; Adolph Nathan, proprietor of the Johnstown Company's stores; Oliver Ackers; Harry P. Geither, clerk of the Adams Express Company; John S. Buchanan; Dr. W. C. Bearn and wife; L. G. Smith; Mrs. Thos. Williams; W. E. Hopps, secretary of the Johnstown Company; Chas Marshall; Squire Fisher and family.

Twenty-five registry offices for the living were opened this morning. Up to noon 3000 out of the 34,000 inhabitants before the flood, registered.

BURYING THE DEAD.

Up to 9 o'clock 150 bodies had been taken from the ruins, most of them unrecognizable, and they are being taken away and buried as fast as possible. In a vast number of cases the bodies are almost completely charred, but the clothing or something of the kind sometimes make the identity of the families complete. What is needed here to-day more than anything else are grave diggers. This morning hundreds of bodies were lying around and no one to dig the graves. At least fifty funerals have already passed the Associated Press headquarters. It is not an unusual thing to see two or three coffins carried along one after the other, followed by a number of mourners all in the same family. It is impossible to secure a conveyance of any kind, consequently all funeral processions are on foot.

General Hastings has ordered the Fourteenth regiment to Johnstown to relieve the militia, who are worn out. The is hiring all the men he can to remove the debris. Pittsburg contractors have a number of men at work, and have placards calling for 2000 more.

The Cambria Iron Works Company are already preparing to get their works in operation. Probably two furnaces will be in operation by the end of the week.

AID FOR THE SUFFERERS.

President Harrison and Secretary Proctor Confer on Help from England.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Secretary Proctor was at the White house early this morning in conference with the president in regard to measures for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers.

A telegram was received from Governor Beaver, asking if the government could furnish pontoons for the construction of temporary bridges across the Conemaugh river. Secretary Proctor telegraphed the officer in command at West Point, and will arrange to meet the want.

AMERICANS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 4.—The Americans in England are engaged in collecting money for the benefit of the sufferers by the Johnstown flood.

NEWS FROM LOCK HAVEN.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Superintendent Pettit, of the Pennsylvania road, made his way to the edge of the city of Lock Haven this morning. The principal citizens say there is no suffering, though all the houses had ten feet of water in them. Only one was drowned there, but several lives were lost at Mill Hull. This is the first news from Lock Haven since Friday.

THREE TRAINS WRECKED,

And Probably Twenty People Drowned—Rumors Denied—A Lady Missing.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4.—It is now definitely settled that at least twenty or twenty-four were lost on the two sections of the day express that left Pittsburg on Friday morning, and the Johnstown accommodation about to leave Johnstown that afternoon. There have been numerous conflicting reports about how many trains were caught in the flood, but from the most reliable sources it has been ascertained that these three trains were all that were caught by the water. A passenger on one train says he can count up at least twenty whom he saw drowned.

Three hundred more bodies have just been found opposite Nineveh. This makes 709 found at that point.

Adjutant-General Hastings this morning stated that he wished to positively deny the stories published in certain newspapers, to the effect that there had been wholesale lynching and rioting here since Sunday.

GENERAL LEW WALLACE'S WIFE MISSING.

NEW YORK, June 4.—General Lew Wallace is very anxious concerning the safety of his wife. That lady left Indianapolis on Thursday and since that time he has not heard from her. He telegraphed to many points, but without avail. This morning he learned that the train which bore his wife might have been caught somewhere in the flood.

LOST NINE RELATIVES.

BALTIMORE, June 4.—General Passenger Agent Charles Scull, of the Baltimore & Ohio road, lost nine relatives in the Johnstown flood. They were Mrs. Mary Hurst and five children, and Mrs. H. Ogle, the telegraph operator who died at her post, had two children.

THE FIRST COUNCIL.

The Government Commission in Conference with the Sioux Indians.

ROSEBUD AGENCY, Dak., June 4.—The commissioners' first council with the Sioux was held yesterday afternoon. All the prominent Indians of this agency were present as well as delegations from all the other Sioux agencies. Governor Foster, chairman of the commission, explained at length the provisions and scope of the bill, and said that the government did not propose to take their land except with their full consent, and would pay liberally for it. The commission hoped to be able to convince them that it was for the interest of the Indians to sell. At the request of the Indians, the whole act was then read. The council then adjourned to give the Indians an opportunity to discuss its provisions with each other.

"JACK THE RIPPER'S" WORK.

A Woman Murdered and Horribly Mutilated in London.

LONDON, June 3.—A parcel containing the lower portion of a woman's body cut in half was found in the Thames at Nursley Down this morning. Another parcel in which were a woman's thighs was picked up at Battersea. Both were wrapped in pieces of a woman's drawers, on which the name Gasher was marked. The trunk and thighs evidently belonged to the same body, which was of a well developed person. The remains had probably been in the water ten days. It is feared that "Jack the Ripper" has again been at work.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Harrison Takes Time to Fill a Few Vacancies in the Territories.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The president made the following appointments to-day:

Receivers of public moneys: John T. Carlin, of Montana, at Bozeman; James J. Doran, of New Mexico, at Las Cruces.

Registers of land offices: Frank E. Baldwin, of Colorado; at Pueblo; Eddy Feres, of Montana, at Bozeman.

PAT KILLEN ACCEPTED.

He Will Fight Joe McAuliffe Under the Auspices of Golden Gate Athletic Club.

ST. PAUL, June 3.—Pat Killen, the heavyweight champion of the Northwest, to-night telegraphed his acceptance of the purse of $2500 offered by the Golden Gate Athletic Club of San Francisco, for a fight with McAuliffe, and he will leave for the West in about three weeks, and, under the management of "Pops" Goodin, will give exhibitions between here and Portland.

CALIFORNIA NEWS ITEMS.

The California Athletic Club.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—At the monthly meeting of the California Athletic Club to-night, Tommy Warren was matched to fight Johnny Griffin, the feather-weight, who defeated Havelin recently. It was also decided to offer a purse for a fight between Dempsey and LaBlanche.

Jimmy Carroll, the light-weight, has challenged Jimmy Carney, the English light-weight champion, to fight at the California Athletic Club, for a purse of $3000 and expenses paid.

The Man With a Broken Neck.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—J. B. Hill, who has lived for nearly two weeks with a broken neck, is said to be slowly dying. His breathing has become very labored, owing to the filling of his lungs with mucous discharge from the throat. Physicians think that he will drop into a sleep, during which he will pass away.

Shipping.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Arrived—Steamer Columbia, Portland; ship John Louis Walsh, Seattle; steamer Wilmington, Yaquina bay.

Cleared—Stehmer Jeanie and bark Nicholas Thayer, Kodiac.

Departed—Steamer State of California, Astoria.

Sovereign Grand Lodge.

MARYSVILLE, Cal., June 3.—The sovereign grand lodge of the A. F. and A. M., state of California, opened its fifteenth annual session here to-day.

The Transcontinental Association.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—Inquiry at the headquarters of the Transcontinental Association by an agent of the Associated Press to-night, elicited the following official information: The Southern Pacific Railway Company has given definite notice of their withdrawal from the Transcontinental Association, but they and other roads in the association have protested against the large tonnage that is now being carried by the Canadian Pacific and demand that the differentials allowed that company shall be reduced.

Under Military Surveillance.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., May 3.—Military companies have encamped near shaft No. 1 of the Spring Valley mines, and their presence has had the effect of quieting the striking miners, though they are still ugly. About twenty-five men went to work this morning.

Storms in Crook County.

Last week a waterspout of mild dimensions burst in the Ochoco valley eleven miles from Prineville, doing some slight damage to ranches. The Ochoco river rose several feet in a short time and portions of Prineville were flooded. On Saturday a thunderstorm, accompanied by wind and hail, passed from the south-west across toward Lookout mountain. Over on Crooked river, in the neighborhood of Newsom creek, hailstones as large as marbles fell for a few minutes, demoralizing the range stock and doing more or less damage to growing crops. Eye witnesses say that the hail, wind and thunder made it quite interesting while it lasted.

It has recently been demonstrated that some articles of merchandise, which have been before the public of England for the last half century, are nine times more used there than all other principal patent medicines put together. We refer to Beecham's Pills, which in order to meet the wishes and requirements expressed by Americans, many of whom already know their value, are now introduced in such a thorough manner that no home need be without them in America. We believe this shrewd and discerning people will soon join in the universal testimony that they "are worth a guinea a box," although they can be purchased of druggists for but twenty-five cents. These pills are round and will therefore roll. They have already rolled into every English speaking country in the world, and they are still rolling. All sufferers from indigestion, flatulency, constipation and all other forms of stomach and liver troubles have now this famous and inexpensive remedy within their reach; but should they find, upon inquiry, that their druggist does not keep BEECHAM'S PILLS, they can send twenty-five cents to the General Agents for the United States, B. F. Allen & Co., 365 Canal Street, New York City, who will promptly mail them to any address.

How the Alaska Boundary Will Be Surveyed.

INCIDENTS IN THE CRONIN CASE

A Vessel Wrecked and Seventeen Lives Lost—The Arid Land Survey—Army News—Events in the Old World.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—As has been before stated in THE OREGONIAN, the last congress appropriated $25,000 and $20,000 respectively to the use of the United States coast and geodetic survey, to be used in establishing the boundary line between Alaska and British Columbia.

The two expeditions are now ready to start from here on the arrival of the Alaska Commercial Company's steamer Bertha, which is expected every day. One is under the command of J. E. McGrath, and the other under that of J. L. Turner.

McGrath takes one party, composed of himself and one assistant, a physician, and seven hands. He will go to the intersection of the 141st meridian with the Yukon river. Here an astronomical station will be established to determine the latitude and longitude of the place. The principal work will be to establish the longitude by means of chronometers, moon occultations and eliminations. Also, to determine the constituents of the magnetic force. Topographical surveys in the vicinity of the station will be made, and the boundary traced as far north and south as possible.

Turner's party will do the same work at his station, which will be at the intersection of the 141st meridian and Porcupine river. His party will be the same in size as McGrath's.

During the winter Turner proposes to go by dog sledges along the boundary to the Arctic ocean.

J. G. Russell, of the United States geological survey, will accompany the expedition. He has not yet decided which of the two parties he will accompany. However, wherever he goes he will make scientific researches, so as to be able to report on the geological formation of the country. He will also make a collection of specimens relating to natural history and ethnography, which he will present to the National Museum and the Smithsonian Institute.

Both parties will depart on the steamer Bertha and land at Ounalaska. From there the steamer St. Paul will convey the outfit and the explorers to St. Michaels.

Both parties will remain in that settlement for about a month, and during that time will determine the astronomical and astrological position of the place.

The delay in St. Michaels will be on account of the construction of the small steamer that is to be put together there. The steamer has been built in this city, and will be put together as soon as possible.

The next move of the two parties will be by the new steamer up the Yukon to their respective destinations. On the way up the river surveys and soundings will be made. A base station will be established at Fort Yukon, by which to verify their calculations on their return.

The return will be made in whale boats and batteaux, and the river will be more carefully surveyed in order to determine astronomically the stations and traders' settlements along the banks.

On arriving at the mouth of the Yukon careful surveys and soundings will be made, as those made over twenty-five years ago are rather rough and incomplete.

During their stay in the far north log cabins will be constructed by the surveyors. If all goes well with both parties, they will finish their work so as to return to this city by August, 1890. If one party should fail, the other party will remain another year to complete the work.

THE CRONIN INQUEST.

No New Developments in the Testimony Thus Far.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The inquest in the Cronin case was renewed this morning. A number of witnesses were examined, but scarcely a single fresh fact was brought out.

Frank Calkins and Mr. and Mrs. Conklin, the saloonkeeper and wife with whom Dr. Cronin lived, referred in their testimony to the doctor's statements that he believed himself in danger because of his opposition to Alexander Sullivan in the Clan-na-Gael.

Old man Carlson, who owns the cottage in which the deed is said to have been committed, swore that the man who rented the place went afterwards to the iceman, P. O'Connell, a fireman, near by, and held a convention, and that subsequently the iceman told Carlson that the tenant was a friend of his who would pay the rent all right.

THE MISSING SKIFF.

RACINE, Wis., June 3.—It transpires that the skiff missed from Chicago about the time of the disappearance of Doctor Cronin was picked up by a tug and towed into Racine three days after the occurrence.

It contained two paddles and a man's kid gloves.

STARKEY WILLING TO TESTIFY.

TORONTO, June 3.—In answer to the dispatches containing the announcement of the proposal to extradite W. J. Starkey, he states that he is quite willing to go to Chicago and tell all he knows of the Cronin matter, which, he says, is nothing.

THE ROBERT ROUSTON.

The Vessel Sinks Six Miles From Milwaukee and Only Five Men Saved.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The Daily News special from Milwaukee says: A startling story comes from Racine by wire. Robert York, second mate of the schooner Thomas Houston, arrived in that city to-day and related a thrilling tale of the sinking of the vessel Friday night, about six miles off Milwaukee.

The Houston cleared from Ashland for South Chicago with ore, and Friday night, when six miles above Milwaukee, she broke in two, and York and a sailor named Joseph Bouts saved themselves by locking arms over the main sail spar, and after being in the water thirty-two hours they came ashore eight miles above Milwaukee.

The captain, his wife and two children, and thirteen of the crew, all perished.

York was severely cross-examined, but he stubbornly adhered to his story.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Arid Land Surveys.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Secretary Noble has approved the plan of operations for continuing the irrigation survey of arid lands proposed by Major J. W. Powell, director of the geographical survey, which was begunin 1888 under the authority of congress.

The area to be surveyed in California will comprise the unmapped portions of the drainage basins of the Yuba, American, Consumnes, Mokelumne, Stanislaus, Tuolumne and Merced rivers. About 300 square miles in Nevada and about 4000 square miles of the basins of the Truckee and Carson rivers are also included.

The instructions to the parties in the field will be issued in a few days.

Army Notes.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Friends of Colonels Whipple and Kelton still maintain that the appointment to the adjutant generalship to succeed General Drum (retired) still lies between these two officers, and the preponderance of opinion is that Kelton will secure the prize. The friends of Captain John Bourke, of the Tenth cavalry, are exercising themselves very much in his behalf for the assistant adjutant generalship, and they are confident that he will succeed.

It is believed that the delay of the president in taking final action on the decision of the Arnies court-martial is due to the fact that the recommendations and the testimony are at variance.

Justice Gray Will Wed To-day.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The marriage of Justice Gray, of the supreme court of the United States, and Miss Jeanette Matthews, daughter of the late Justice Matthews, will be solemnized at St. John's church at 6 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The invited guests will include only the relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties, owing to the recent death of the bride's father.

Consuls Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The president has appointed Charles L. Knapp, of New York, consul general at Montreal, and Alexander Reed, of Wisconsin, consul at Dublin.

CABLE NOTES.

Notes From Paris.

PARIS, June 3.—The new harbor at Calais was formally declared open to the commerce of the world to-day, in the presence of a great throng of people. Buildings along the wharves and all the vessels in port were decorated with flags and bunting.

At a meeting of 400 Panama canal shareholders in this city it was decided to send a commissioner to Panama immediately to inspect the canal works.

The race for the Prix de Jockey Club was won to-day by Clover. Achilles was second and Phlenegthon third.

Mark Lane Review.

LONDON, June 3.—Mark Lane Express: The weather promises a good harvest. Farmers, despairing of higher prices, are delivering 10 per cent. more than usual. Good prospects at home and abroad have knocked the bottom out of the markets. American wheat is flat and languid. South American and Australian are firmly held. Flour is steady. Barley and corn 3d cheaper. Oats, firm. To-day the market was a little firmer, although the weather was fine and arrivals ample.

Mrs. Maybrie Very Ill.

LIVERPOOL, June 3.—Mrs. Maybrie, who, it is alleged, poisoned her husband, is so ill that she is unable to appear in court.

It is alleged that Maybrie, before his death, wrote to his brother that if his illness proved fatal an autopsy ought to be held.

Inspection of Parnell's Letters.

LONDON, June 3.—The counsel for the Times and for the Parnellites in the Parnell commission investigation have begun an inspection of Parnell's letters.

They number over 5000.

The Sugar Bounties Commissioners.

LONDON, June 3.—The sugar bounties commissioners have signed their report and referred it to their respective governments.

Seamen and Firemen on a Strike.

LIVERPOOL, June 3.—The union seamen and firemen have gone on a strike. Many vessels are unable to ship experienced men, and are compelled to ship artisans and cokers as firemen. The strikers are using every effort to prevent the vessels from securing new men.

Will Visit the Exposition in a Body.

LONDON, June 3.—The Dublin corporation intend to visit the Paris exposition in a body.

JOHNNY GRIFFIN, THE PUGILIST.

He Is to Come to San Francisco to Fight Tommy Warren.

BOSTON, June 3.—Johnny Griffin, the Braintree, the feather-weight, who surprised the sporting men by defeating Jack Havelin in remarkably quick time, has been selected to go to San Francisco to fight Tommy Warren.

It was understood that the winner of the Havelin-Griffin fight would be selected by the California Athletic Club as the man to meet Warren; and he will be sent there at once.

COMMERCIAL

TUESDAY, June 4.

Merchandice received or soon to arrive by rail: 2 cars farm wagons and fixtures, 20 buggies and fixtures, 345 bdls spokes, 38 pkgs hardware, 2 lots axle grease, 115 steel rails, 45 bbls spirits, 15 bbls alcohol, 14 cs boots and shoes, 27 cs dry goods, 10 cs clothing, 11 pkgs castings, 265 kegs nails.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 7760 ctls wheat, 852 bbls flour, 1396 ctls oats, 288 ctls barley, 42 ctls bran, 133 ctls millstuffs, 160,000 lbs wool, 4567 lbs hides, 238 bxs eggs, 34 pkgs butter, 98 pkgs dried fruit, 56 pkgs green fruit, 10 tons hay, 23 hd cattle, 70 hd sheep.

WHEAT—Dullness and weakness characterize the wheat market. The fluctuations of the New York wheat market to-day were:

	Closed	Opened	Noon	Closed
	3d.	4th.
June	87¾	88		60¼
July	82¾	83¾	81¾	81¾
August	81½	81¾	81¾	83½
September	82	82¾	82¼

FREIGHTS—The situation displays no new features. No new charters have been reported and business is dull. The Borrowdale is still disengaged, with no offers being made for her. The list of vessels to arrive is very short, especially for this time of year, the total amount of registered tonnage due being only 18,107 tons.

EGGS—The market rules firm, the demand and supply being about equal. We quote 20c. There was a report along the street that a carload of Eastern eggs had arrived. If it is true it will seriously affect the Oregon product.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The stocks to-day were extremely dull, the transactions recorded being the smallest for a full day's business in some weeks. The negotiations between the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific officials were reported to have been brought down to a point where only a single question divided the two parties, and Northern Pacifics were active, but made no further advance. The Sugar Trust rose rapidly under considerable excitement from 99¼ to 99⅝, on the rumor of an extra dividend and the rise in the foreign sugar market. The market closed dull and fairly firm at slight changes for the day. The majority of the list are slightly lower to-night.

Government bonds have been steady.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, June 4.—Closing prices: Atchison & Topeka first sevens, 117; do railroad, 45¾; Burlington & Quincy, 102½; Mexican Central, common, 14⅜; do first mortgage bonds, 79⅝; San Diego, 28.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Produce receipts past 24 hours include wheat 65,000 ctls, flour, 32,000 qr sks, oats 3000 ctls, barley 1000 ctls, potatoes 2900 sks.

Chartered for grain to United Kingdom, Havre or Antwerp, Brsh Sherwood, iron, 1623 tons at 32s 9d. The Brsh Gitana was taken for lumber to load at Burrard Inlet, for West coast. The demand for grain vessels for spot loading is limited while rates are firm. For outside business there is a moderate inquiry at steady figures.

Wheat—Spot trading is of a light character, the shipping interests having apparently no immediate wants to fill. Values are gradually weakening, standard shipping having dropped to $1 25@1 27½. Holders evince no desire to meet buyers at above quotations, and it is doubtful whether any considerable quantity could be secured under $1 30 per cental. Options are steady; some 3100 tons of buyer year sold at $1 31 @1 32½ on the morning call. Closed at $1 30½ in the afternoon.

Barley—There is no material change to note either in the demand or in prices. Offerings while not free are liberal enough to allow buyers to fill needs without disturbing values. No. 1 feed and choice fetches 60@62½c per cental; inferior grades sell down to 57½@60c; rowing, 65@75c. Option dealings are insignificant. Buyer year 77½@77¾. Seller year (new) 68¾.

Oats—Receipts are again large and stocks accumulating. Buyers remain indifferent to the prevailing low prices, only purchasing in sufficient quantities to fill current needs. Prices are easy at 87½@90c for common to choice feed. A strictly choice lot might possibly find a purchaser at $1. Milling ones move slowly, and the range of values is from 97½@1 05.

Hops—There is a growing feeling in the trade that prices will go higher, and holders are firm in holding out for 8½@9c for June and July Californias. Orders from the interior are not coming forward as yet, but are anticipated, but an active demand must set in shortly.

Wool—A fairly active movement is noted, mostly for local speculative account. Prices remain steady at 12@20c for Eastern Oregon.

Millstuffs—Steady. Bran, $11 50@12; middlings, $12 50@13 50.

Potatoes—Firm for choice and weak for inferior grades. Best Burbanks, 55@61; poor to fair, 40@50c.

Hops—Few buyers are in the market and trade is slow, owing to poor stocks to select from. Eastern advices are generally firm, with a slight advance in some instances.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, June 4.—Receipts of wheat at the seven principal points of the Rocky mountains during the past 24 hours were 126,000 bushels, and the shipments from these points for the same time were 142,930 bushels.

The Produce Exchange continues to withhold quotations, and no official prices are allowed to be given to the public.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Cattle—Receipts, 7400; 5 to 10c lower; beeves, $4 20@4 50; steers, $3 60@4 20; stockers and feeders, $2 40@3 50; Texas cattle, $1 80@2 80.

Hogs—Receipts, 15,500; strong; higher; mixed, $4 30@4 50; heavy, $4 30@4 45; light, $4 35@4 60.

Sheep—Receipts, 6000; firm; native, $3 40@4 75; Westerns, shorn, $3 80@4 70; Texans, shorn $3 20@4 50.

The Drovers' Journal's special cablegram from London quotes best American cattle 10c better than last week at 11½c, but the demand is very weak.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Grain freights by steam from this port to Liverpool are steady at 3½d per bushel.

Shipments of wheat and flour from the principal Atlantic ports during the week just ended were: Wheat 350,000 bushels, flour 101,000 barrels.

Wheat—The market was quiet but generally steady, although the closing prices were a shade lower than the opening. Opened: June, 80¾c; July, 81¾c; August, 82¾c; September. Noon—81⅝c; July 81¾c; August, 82¾c; September. Closed —80¾c June, 81c July, 82¾c August.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Coffee—Options closed steady at 10@15 points down; sales, 30,750 bags; June $16 45, July $16 05@16 60, August $15 70@16 75; spot Rio, quiet; fair cargoes, 18½c.

Sugar—Raw, strong, quiet; sales: 1200 hds Muscovado, 87 test, 6¾c; refined, ½@¾ higher, firm, active; C, 7⅛@7¼c; extra C, 7⅜@7½c; white extra C, 7 1-16@7⅜c; yellow, 7@7⅛c; off A, 7 15-16@8¼c; mold A, 8¼c; standard A, 8⅛c; confectioners A, 8¼c; cut loaf, 9¼c; crushed, 9¼c; powdered, 9¼c; granulated, 8¾c; cubes, 9c.

TEN MILLION GALLON PUMP

To Be Purchased and a New Pipe Line To Be Laid.

That Is What the Water Committee Has Decided to Do—Other Matters Considered at the Meeting Yesterday.

A regular meeting of the water committee was held yesterday at the parlors of Ladd & Tilton's bank, President Henry Failing in the chair, and W. S. Ladd, W. K. Smith, C. H. Lewis, J. Loewenberg, R. C. Smith, Frank Dekum, A. H. Johnson, H. M. Richardson, present, and Secretary P. C. Schuyler in attendance.

A WATER MAIN NEEDED.

A petition from L. Goldsmith and many others asking that a water main be laid on 8 street from Twenty-second to Twenty-sixth, was read and, on motion, referred to Superintendent Smith, with instructions to report as to the advisability of granting the request.

THE REQUEST WAS NOT GRANTED.

A communication from William Wadhams was read, stating that the Orphans' Home, which procures water from a spring, was in need of an additional supply and asking the committee to furnish it free of cost, as the home is partially a charitable institution.

Several members of the committee said in effect that it was hard to refuse such a request, but the committee had no power to give free water, and that everyone paid, rich and poor, churches, hospitals, etc., without exception. If this sort of thing was once begun, there would be no end to it. The only way in such cases was, if any one felt sorry that the request must be refused, let them assist in paying for the water. Several of the committee said they would be willing to do this.

On motion the secretary was instructed to inform Mr. Wadhams that it was impossible to grant his request.

WARRANTS ORDERED PAID.

A warrant for $2255 24 for expenses incurred in the extension of mains was ordered paid.

BOILER ORDERED SOLD.

Superintendent Smith reported that he had received an offer from Mr. G. B. Markle for the old boiler from the high service pumping station.

On motion it was ordered that the boiler be sold for the best price obtainable.

REFERRED TO THE SUPERINTENDENT.

The Union Iron Works submitted three propositions for putting in position at Palatine Hill from three to six of their perfect combustion furnaces. One proposition was to accept for this the value of the fuel saved for one year.

No one appeared to know much about the perfect combustion furnace which was invented at the Union Iron Works, and is in use there. Mr. Richardson stated that wet fuel was used, the wetter the better, in fact the wood was soaked in a tank of water before being put in the furnace.

This seemed so contrary to all known theories of combustion, that the matter was referred to Superintendent Smith to investigate and report upon.

THE SUB-COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The sub-committee, Messrs. Failing and Richardson, submitted their report of the earnings and disbursements for the month of May as follows:

Total earnings	$11,450 65
Total disbursements	3,283 50
Net earnings	$7,167 15
Cash on hand April 30	$7,575 14
Balance on hand May 31	$14,742 29

The committee recommend that $15,000 be paid to the treasurer of the committee to be applied to payment of interest accruing on bonds July 1st.

DAILY CONSUMPTION OF WATER.

The average daily consumption of water during the month of May was 8,244,800 gallons, and the maximum consumption exceeded 9,000,000 gallons—the pump running sixteen hours and the other twenty-four hours. Monday there was pumped 10,000,000 gallons, and the amount of water furnished from the high service has increased since January 1 from 380,000 to 500,000 gallons per day.

SUPERINTENDENT SMITH'S REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE CITY WATER WORKS, PORTLAND, May 31.

The Water Committee of the City of Portland—Gentlemen: In accordance with your instructions I present the following report in relation to the cost of increasing the capacity of the city water works to 10,000,000 gallons in twenty-four hours.

We have now two 5,000,000-gallon pumps and a force main which, by the addition of a half mile of pipes within the city limits, will deliver 10,000,000 gallons a day to the distribution pipes.

But the storage capacity of the reservoir is but little more than 1,500,000 gallons, and with a constant demand of 10,000,000 gallons a day the supply will be interrupted whenever it may be necessary to repair the main or one of the pumps, or to clean out a boiler, and in view of the possible consequences of even a temporary interruption of the water supply it will be necessary either to construct a reservoir with a capacity for two or three days' consumption, or to duplicate the pumps and force main from Palatine hill. The only site for a reservoir of sufficient capacity is in the City park, but as this is over 200 feet above the city base, it will be necessary to pump the water into it from the low service reservoir to an elevation of 120 feet, and to connect the two reservoirs by means of a pipe not less than twenty-four inches in diameter, in order to convey the water into the distribution pipes without undue pressure.

The capacity of the new high service pump is 1,500,000 gallons a day, and by working it day and night for forty days 60,000,000 gallons could be raised to the City Park, with the present consumption on the high service, but within a year or two this pump may be worked to its full capacity to supply the demand for consumption, and another pump and force main would then be necessary to accumulate and maintain a sufficient supply in the upper reservoir.

But as this reservoir would be too high for the low service it would be necessary in order to supply 10,000,000 gallons a day to lay a large pipe to shallow service reservoir and from that reservoir to the city mains.

At present there are two six-inch discharge pipes from the low service reservoir (?) and when the pumps are stopped the pressure is taken off the city mains because the water cannot be delivered in sufficient quantities from the reservoir.

For these reasons I am of opinion that the safest and most economical method of providing for a delivery of 10,000,000 gallons a day will be by means of a duplicate pump and force main from Palatine Hill.

With a new 5,000,000-gallon pump a new set of boilers will be required, and two pumps and boilers must be kept in operation with one pump and boiler in reserve.

With a new 10,000,000-gallon pump another set of boilers will not be necessary, and the two Worthington pumps and one set of boilers will be kept in reserve.

The 5,000,000-gallon pump can be erected in the engine room at the Palatine station, but the boilers must be placed in the bunkers used for storing fuel.

The 10,000,000-gallon pump must be erected in the bunkers, the floor of which must be cut down to a depth of 16 feet and to a width and length of 30x46, as the present elevation is too great for the suction pipe at low water. This will leave a space twenty feet wide and 45 feet long for storing and dumping wood, which will suffice, although not so convenient for handling wood as the present arrangement.

A first-class high duty 5,000,000-gallon pump will cost erected, including one set of boilers, the suction pipe, the force main within the building, and the excavation for foundations, about $45,000.

A 10,000,000-gallon high duty pump, including the same items, exclusive of boilers, will cost about $15,000.

With a 5,000,000-gallon pump, two pumps, one at least a low duty pump, and three sets of boilers must be kept in operation.

With a high duty 10,000,000-gallon pump, but one set of boilers will be necessary, and the saving in fuel will be from $5,000 to $12,000 a year, according to the amount of water pumped.

Under these circumstances I would advise the purchase of the 10,000,000-gallon pump.

Upon expenditure of about $25,000, the capacity of the force main from Palatine hill may be increased to 10,000,000 gallons a day, but a duplicate main will be necessary of a capacity sufficient to supply the city should the water be shut off from the other for repairs.

For this purpose, 2,000,000, 7,000,000, and 5,000,000 gallons a day may be forced through a 24-inch, 22-inch and 20-inch pipe without any undue strain on the iron.

The length of pipe required will be 5.3 miles and the approximate cost may be estimated as follows:

For a 24-inch pipe No. 8 iron	$117,000
For a 22-inch pipe No. 8 iron	100,000
For a 20-inch pipe No. 10 iron	80,000

These estimates are for double riveted wrought iron pipes, including material and manufacture and expenses of laying. For cast iron pipes the cost would be approximately as follows:

For a 24-inch pipe	$180,000
For a 22-inch pipe	160,000
For a 20-inch pipe	137,000

With a 5,000,000-gallon pump, the total cost would be:

With a 24-inch wrought iron pipe	$100,000
With a 22-inch wrought iron pipe	145,000
With a 20-inch wrought iron pipe	129,000

The 10,000,000-gallon pump would increase the cost by $20,000.

In my opinion the capacity of the twenty-inch pipe would not be sufficient, and the twenty-four-inch pipe would be best adapted for the purpose.

The pipe would extend 4 65-100 miles from Palatine hill to the corner of Hood and Lincoln, and thence three-fourths of a mile along Water, Harrison, Front and Jefferson to Sixth street, connecting on that street with the distribution pipes from Front to Sixth. This portion of the pipe may be extended up Jefferson to the City park reservoir when constructed, and will serve as a distributing main, and also as a portion of the pipe proposed along Front street.

With a 10,000,000-gallon pump, and twenty-four-inch pipe (4.55 miles of wrought and .75 miles of cast iron), the total cost may be estimated at $155,000. Of this $27,000 is for cast iron pipe, which could be utilized in connection with the City park reservoir; and the saving in fuel by the erection of a 10,000,000-gallon pump will not be less than $30,000 in the next four years.

The pumps, it should be stated, must be direct pressure pumps, as the reservoirs serve only as a stand pipe.

For the last three days one pump has been operating twenty-four hours and the other fourteen, and the consumption has been from 7,500,000 to 8,000,000 gallons per day.

Respectfully submitted,

ISAAC W. SMITH, Supt.

THE MATTER CANVASSED.

This report had been submitted to the sub-committee, who stated that there was no doubt as to the necessity for the pump and pipe line; the only question was as to the funds.

Some discussion followed in regard to two methods of raising the money. One was by raising the water rates, the other by borrowing some money for a short time.

The proposition to raise the rates was not viewed with favor, Mr. Ladd saying he would prefer to be one of ten to join in borrowing the money necessary.

Mr. Failing stated that the cost of the pump and pipe line would be about $200,000. There are bonds for $100,000 yet unsold. Of the cash on hand, he thought, allowing for all contingencies, there would be $50,000 left after the laying of pipes was completed. He thought the water works would clear $7000 in June, and that they would make during the next six months, besides paying interest, $25,000. This would leave about $50,000 to be provided for, and he thought this could be paid off with profits on the water by January 1, 1891.

Mr. Ladd said the pump was an absolute necessity, and he was willing to join with five or ten to guarantee the $50,000.

Mr. Dekum said the water must be brought in, and they would find some way to pay for it.

As evidence of the rapid increase in the consumption of water it was stated that as many taps have been put in this year up to June 1 as were put in during the whole of 1888.

Mr. Failing stated that the city is pumping one-third as much water as the city of San Francisco for one-ninth of what was paid in that city.

Mr. Richardson stated that one man used to attend to all the shutting off and turning on of water. Then they had to get a horse and wagon, and now they have two horses and wagons, which are kept busy.

THE PUMP TO BE PURCHASED.

Mr. Ladd moved that the recommendation of Superintendent Smith, to purchase a ten-million-gallon pump and construct a twenty-four-inch inch pipe line, be adopted, and that the superintendent be instructed to make out the necessary specifications for the work, to be submitted as soon as possible, so that contracts can be advertised for.

The motion carried unanimously.

THE VACANCY STILL UNFILLED.

Mr. Ladd asked if any one had been elected to fill the vacancy caused in the committee by the death of Mayor Gates.

Mr. Richardson said the vacancy ought to be filled, but it ought to be done at a full meeting of the committee. Adjourned.

POLICE COURT EPISODES.

A Five-Hour Session and a Long Docket of Cases—The Sahlinger Imbroglio—Assault.

The session of the police court yesterday afternoon was perhaps as spicy as any in its history for some time past. Court was in session nearly five hours, and then a number of important cases had to be put off until this afternoon.

The first case disposed of was that of Isaac Tuemore, who had been jugged on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested by Officer Byers, Monday evening, while driving about the streets at a furious rate, endangering the lives of pedestrians, and applying a all manner of vile epithets to those with whom he came in contact. The court fined him $20.

A. J. Martin paid a $10 fine for using abusive language to A. T. Athomar, and S. Wright forfeited $5 on a charge of drunkenness.

THE SAHLINGER CASE.

The case of J. G. Sahlinger, charged with using abusive language and breaking into the room of Mr. and Mrs. Schenk, two of his tenants, in the night time, occupied nearly two hours alone. By his own request Sahlinger was given a jury trial. The complainants showed that Sahlinger, accompanied by his daughter, a German carpenter, and several ebony-hued men and women, made a raid on their room, at about 10 o'clock one night, and broke open the door. The defendant, at the time, also accused Mrs. Schenk of being a disreputable character, and said that Mr. Schenk was not her husband.

When the defendant, Sahlinger, was placed on the stand he put on an air of sublime innocence in a vain endeavor to create the impression that he was the most harmless and most innocent man on the coast. He denied the charges against him in toto.

A number of other witnesses, tenants of Sahlinger in the building on the northwest corner of Fourth and Salmon streets, testified regarding the fracas on the night in question. The testimony of Mrs. Schenk was rather sensational, for she seemed to writhe under the indignities heaped upon her by Sahlinger, especially as she claimed to be a married woman for twenty-three years.

During the re-direct examination the character of the defendant was shown to be far from spotless. The jury brought in a verdict in short order finding Sahlinger guilty, and the sentence will be pronounced this afternoon.

WAS IT A DANGEROUS WEAPON?

Louis Wilson, who occupies a room in the building at the northwest corner of Fourth and Yamhill streets, had a hearing on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon upon the landlady, Mrs. Minser.

Mrs. Minser testified that Wilson and his wife were quarreling in the hall, when she stepped out of her room to make peace by throwing a hairbrush at him. Wilson looked upon this as an uncalled for interference, and retaliated by throwing it back, and a small alarm clock, in the bargain. The clock struck her on the head in the region of the coil.

Mrs. Snyder corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Minser, and showed the court that her memory had considerably improved since the trial of the Buckley-Brown case.

Wilson claimed that he threw back what was thrown at him for self defense.

The court, in passing upon the case, ran amuck upon the question whether or not a clock could be called a dangerous weapon. By consent of the defendant the charge was changed to assault and battery, and then a fine of $20 was imposed.

Thomas English, a waiter in Zinsley's restaurant, on First street, was acquitted on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon upon Ah Chung, the Chinese cook.

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO ROB.

Charles Hallet, against whom a complaint of assault with intent to rob had been sworn by Dan Stewart, was next run through the mill. The complaining witness swore that while the defendant was conducting him towards his hotel, (he, himself being drunk,) Hallet run him into the hallway of the old Daily News office and there attempted to choke and rob him of two $20 gold pieces.

Hallett claimed that he was conducting Stewart to his hotel as any other friend would, because he (Stewart) was too drunk to walk alone, and that he had no intention of committing a robbery. Several witnesses testified regarding Hallett's good character. The case will be argued and passed upon this afternoon.

CASES CONTINUED.

The following cases were continued until this afternoon: A. J. Martin, assault and battery; Mrs. Stagger, assault and battery, and James Turk, threatening to commit a felony.

BRIDGE AND FERRY TOLLS.

A Personal Encounter—Judge Catlin Notifies the Companies to Reduce Their Rates.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning William Phillips, a resident of East Portland, who is in the employ of John Cran & Co. in this city, attempted to make a test case of whether the Morrison street bridge officials were allowed to charge 25 cents for eight or ten footman's tickets, but from all appearances he came out second best in the personal encounter which took place between himself and Collector J. H. Richmond and Special Officer M. L. Keith.

At the hour mentioned Phillips was on his way to work, and when approached by Collector Richmond he tendered him 25 cents and asked for ten tickets. Richmond told him that he sold the tickets at the rate of eight for a quarter. Phillips then asked him if Judge Catlin had not made an order to the effect that ten tickets should be sold for 25 cents and on receiving a reply in the negative, attempted to pass without paying anything. He came near getting away but was overhauled by Special Policeman Keith, who, with the assistance of the collector, took him by main force back to the office, where from Phillips's appearance later, a regular rough and tumble fight must have taken place. He finally concluded to pay 5 cents and cross, or else be late for his work.

Later in the day Phillips visited Justice Tuttle, and exhibiting a handful of his beard which he claimed was pulled out by his assailants, swore out a warrant for the arrest of Richmond and Keith, charging them with assault and battery. The men gave bail for their appearance for examination at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon attorneys for the bridge and ferry companies called on Judge Catlin and were officially notified to put the rates decided upon by the county court into effect immediately. The new rates will probably go into effect to-day.

HOSPITAL FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Work on the Annex to the Children's Home Being Crowded Forward Rapidly.

The sick ward or hospital annex to the Children's Home is going up rapidly. The foundation is already laid, and the frame work is partially raised. Four carpenters are at work, and the building will be completed in a short time.

The hospital will be 26x28 feet and two stories in height and will cost about $3000. At present there is no sickness at the home and all the larger children are attending school. The hospital, however, will come in good place when sickness of any kind occurs, for the patients can then be separated from the rest of the children and those who attend school will not be deprived of this privilege.

ELECTRIC CABLE RAILWAYS.

Captain Tuttle Tells of What He Saw in San Francisco.

He Says That the Euphrat System Beats Anything He Ever Saw in the Line of Electrical Appliances.

Captain B. B. Tuttle, who returned from San Francisco Monday, is very enthusiastic over a car he saw in operation there, its motor power being the Euphrat electric system. To a reporter yesterday he said:

"While in San Francisco I had the pleasure of riding on a car propelled by electricity. The two systems now in use where cars are run by electricity are, by storage batteries and conducting wires, placed in conduits or air chambers underground. With the former system, each car has only storage capacity to run four hours, and the same length of time is required for recharging, so that each car has to be out of running service at least half of the time, twelve out of every twenty-four hours. With the latter system, loss of electricity and expense seem to be the main objections.

Overhead wires do not require to be insulated except at the points of support, the air, at the usual distance from the ground, being a sufficient non-conductor to prevent waste and diffusion of electricity; but when these naked wires are brought near the ground or placed under the surface, not being covered with insulating material, the waste of electricity is so great as to make the cost of using it beyond the limits of practical economy.

"The problem is claimed to be solved by the Euphrat system, by which the car I rode on was operated, which entirely dispenses with storage batteries and overhead wires, and obviates any necessity for an expensive conduit or dry air chamber underground. It affords the only practicable way yet discovered of placing effectively insulated conducing wires, of any desired length, under the street surface or inside the track rail, and supplying therefrom a direct and unbroken current of electricity to a traveling motor from a dynamo located at any point most convenient for the purpose. This is effected by an elastic insulating covering of the wires, which is provided with a slit or separable lips extending longitudinally its entire length, capable of opening to admit the passage of a moving brush or arm, and automatically closing when the brush or arm passes, thus maintaining contact with the conducting wire which is also continuously insulated.

"The direction and speed of each carican be controlled at will from either end, the driver can proceed slowly, almost imperceptibly when required, and take any desired speed to recover lost time. Each car is entirely independent of any other, and, in case any car should break down, it would not interrupt the traffic. A car disabled through accident would be pushed to the depot by the succeeding one, or can be run off to the side of the track. The independence of the motors, and expansibility of the motor power, render the Euphrat system wholly independent of horses or other reserve.

"Cars may be stopped as quickly as desired, may reverse to avoid a block, and (if derailed) can propel themselves back on the track, by means of a flexible connection between the car motor and the conductor. The motor and mechanism of a car operate noiselessly, and are concealed from view beneath the bottom of the car. The same cars which run in the streets of a city at from six to eight miles an hour, may be speeded to twenty or twenty-five miles on suburban extensions.

"In the Euphrat system the conductors are attached to the rails or are placed in an underground conduit the upper surface of which is at or near the same level as the street. The peculiar feature of the system consists in the constitution of the conductor. In one of its forms it consists of a heavy wire, surrounded by dense insulating material, in which, however, there is a wide slit extending the entire length of the conductor. Around this there is a flexible insulating covering, which is also slit throughout its entire length, though in this case the slit in its normal position is closed. A moving brush that makes contact with the conducting rod in the interior of the conductor separates the lips of the outer insulating layer as it moves along, and they close together again immediately after it has passed.

"The cost of constructing and equipping a cable railway in this city ten miles long, with forty cars, would be about $500,000, while a road the same length equipped with the same number of cars operated by the Euphrat system would be only a little over $150,000. The cost of operating the cable road for one year would be about $95,000, and the Euphrat system about $25,000."

ELECTRIC MOTOR LINES.

Contracts Let for Two Roads—Work Soon to Begin and Operations Pushed to Early Completion.

As inquiries are frequent in regard to the electric motor lines to be built here, it may be said for the satisfaction of all interested that contracts have been let to the Northwestern Electric Company, represented here by Mr. S. Z. Mitchell, to build two and a half miles of electric railway across the steel bridge to Fifth street and to Albina, and also to build some four miles for the Metropolitan Railway Company from this city to Fulton park.

It must be understood that in building these roads the clearing and grading are done by the companies. They have contracted with the Sprague Electric Company for the dynamos, motors and the electric appliances for running the cars. Messrs. Shurtz and Tobin who represent the Sprague company, have stated that the company is now supplying material for fifty-eight different lines in the United States aggregating 258 miles, with 439 cars.

The Northwestern Electric Company has the contract for building the road, that is putting in the power house, putting up the wires and getting everything running.

Work will begin on the line across the steel bridge in about ten days, and on the Metropolitan Company's line as soon as possible, so as to have it completed to Fulton Park by October.

The line across the steel bridge will be a specialty in electric railways. The draw in this bridge is the longest in any bridge over which an electric railway is operated, and the draw makes five times as many openings as any bridge which has an electric railway.

This necessitates a cable 700 feet long to run down from the bridge at one end of the draw and along the bottom of the river and up at the other end of the draw, which will be so arranged that when the draw is opened the current is switched automatically into the cable. Each of the four cars on this road will be furnished with two fifteen-horse power motors and can run at a speed of from fifteen to eighteen miles per hour. The power house will be at Montgomery's sawmill, Albina, and the wires which runs the cars can be also used to supply power for running machinery anywhere along the line.

The power house for the Metropolitan company's line will be at Fulton Park, which will be near the middle of the line when it is completed to the cemeteries. The work of grading the line from the city limits to Fulton Park is being pushed, so that this part of the line may be in readiness for track-laying as soon as work can be commenced on the line inside the city from the south boundary down to the foot of Yamhill street.

It is more than probable that the contract for an electric road to Woodstock will be signed in a few days, and that the lines of the Transcontinental Street Railway Company will be operated by electricity in the near future.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
ABSOLUTELY PURE.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.
